NEW GUERRILLA WARFARE COMES IN ETHIOPIA

Warner Baxter 'Sold' On Island, To Bring Movie Friends Here

Famous Hollywood Movie Star Plans to Bring Dick Powell, Richard Barthelmess and Ronald Colman Here in September

"It's Really Paradise Here," Says Star

"I'm absolutely sold on Vancouver Island. Thank God I found it. It's really Paradise here," said Warner Baxter, famed star of the screen and idol of millions of fans the world over who returned to Victoria this morning after spending the last three weeks at Qualicum Beach. Mrs. Baxter and his double, Frank McGrath, accompanied him and the trio will sail tonight by the Ss. H. F. Alexander for Los Angeles.

Seen at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Baxter was loud in his praise of Vancouver Island. The rain and the cloudy weather didn't bother him in the least.

"You must remember we get so much sunshine in southern California that we are sick to death of it," he said. "Everybody we met at Qualicum was apologizing about the weather, but they needn't have bothered. We were dressed for the rain and we enjoyed every minute of our stay."

ADVICE TO FRIENDS
So impressed were Mr. and Mrs. Baxter with Vancouver Island that they sent postcards to hundreds of their friends in the south, advising them to come here for their vacations.

"We're going back to Hollywood to sing the praises of this island to everybody we meet," the star said. Mr. Baxter is already making plans to come to Vancouver Island in September with three of his most intimate Hollywood friends, Dick Powell, Richard Barthelmess and Ronald Colman.

"The four of us had planned a holiday then and I'm going to do my best to get them to come up here. I've planned to rent a boat somewhere on the island and we shall fish and hunt here and farther north," he said. "Perhaps we shall even get up to Alaska. It will be purely a stag party—no ladies along. The four of us are great friends. We've been around a lot together."

LIKE PEOPLE HERE
Mr. and Mrs. Baxter found the people on Vancouver Island charming. They were left entirely alone. No curious people pursued them and

DARDANELLES LIMITS DEBATED

Nine-point British Proposal Taken As Basis of Discussion at International Conference

Canadian Press from Havas
Montreux, Switzerland, July 7.—A nine-point British proposal for a new Dardanelles convention was accepted as a basis for discussion at today's session of the meeting of signatory powers of the Lausanne Treaty.

The British plan was submitted to the conference yesterday evening by Lord Stanley, head of the British delegation, as a counter-proposal to the original Turkish plans for re-fortification of the straits. The counter-proposal was viewed as assuring greater security to both Britain and Turkey.

It provides the following:
1. Warships of nations bordering on the Black Sea have complete freedom of the Dardanelles, but their tonnage is restricted to a maximum of 15,000 tons.

2. The maximum tonnage of powers not bordering on the Black Sea permitted to enter the Dardanelles is fixed at 30,000 tons at present, with the understanding it will be increased to 45,000 when the Turkish navy has been re-equipped.

3. In certain cases, particularly for humanitarian reasons, non-Black Sea powers will be permitted to send an

LATE HON. P. J. VENIOT

Hon. P. J. Veniot's Death Is Mourned

Premier King Pays Warm Tribute to Late Ex-Postmaster-General

Canadian Press
Bathurst, N.B., July 7.—The political wars were over today for Hon. Peter J. Veniot, whose span of forty-two years in the political arena carried him to a provincial premiership and the portfolio of Canada's Postmaster-General.

The seventy-two-year-old member of the House of Commons for Gloucester died from an abdominal illness yesterday evening in this village where he commenced his political career more than four decades ago. His strength had weakened steadily for days.

The remains will be buried Thursday morning in the cemetery adjoining the Sacred Heart Church, which Mr. Veniot attended.

ENDS LONG CAREER
It was the end of a political career that began here in 1894 when young Peter John Veniot was elected to the New Brunswick legislature. And it marked another gap in the thinning ranks of the political oldsters who are still able to hold their own in the parliamentary jousts of today.

For Mr. Veniot was still in the thick of it when death struck him down. His days as premier of New Brunswick

The ships were flown from Siu-chow in Kwangtung province to Changsha in Hunan.

ALASKA ROAD ACTION SEEN

B.C. Would Get $7,300,000 Development Under Coast Highway Plan

Hopes for an early consummation of arrangements for the proposed British Columbia-Alaska Highway, a $14,000,000 project, of which $7,300,000 would be spent in British Columbia, have been raised in provincial circles through developments of the last few days.

Premier Pattullo announced yesterday that the British Columbia government would co-operate with the national governments of Canada and the United States on the project, and this was taken to indicate that negotiations are advancing.

Last year, Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska came here and discussed the proposed highway with Premier Pattullo, and at that time the Premier indicated the provincial government's willingness to facilitate the project.

The Premier said today he had nothing further to say publicly in the matter just yet.

Flying north from Prince Rupert to Atlin and Dawson City, the Premier will pass over a large portion of the territory through which the highway would run.

From the standpoint of employment, tourists and industry, British Columbia is vitally interested in the project.

The road would extend from the end of the present B.C. highway system at Hazelton into the Yukon and Alaska.

The B.C. section is estimated to cost $7,300,000, the Yukon section $4,800,000 and the Alaska section $2,100,000.

As a thoroughfare for tourists traveling from all parts of the United States to Alaska, the highway would bring a great deal of business to this province, it is believed.

It would up an undeveloped mineral area in the north of the province where there are said to be gold reserves worth $30,000,000.

Sword Swallower's Act Too Realistic

Twelve Inches of Glass Tubing Taken from Performer's Stomach After Indiana Show

Associated Press
Anderson, Ind., July 7.—A circus sword swallower who made his act too realistic was reported today to be recovering from an operation for the removal of twelve inches of glass tubing from his stomach.

William O. Knoll, twenty-seven, of Reading, Pa., billed as "Prince Moon," went through his regular act here last night and as a climax swallowed a two-foot electric tube—but twelve inches of it broke off in his stomach. Knoll was rushed to St. John's Hospital, where an operation was performed to remove the tubing.

The act included the turning on of the electricity in the tube, but Knoll did not get to that part.

BIG RISE IN ADVERTISING

Associated Press
Seattle, July 7.—A tremendous increase in national newspaper advertising during the next six months was foreseen today at the annual convention of the Pacific Advertising Clubs Association.

Leslie M. Barton, New York City, expressed the opinion business men would put more money into newspaper advertising "rather than give it to the government under the new tax bill."

"Advertising, particularly within the building industries, will exceed anything we have ever known," Barton said in an address.

He praised newspaper advertising as "more effective than any other medium."

ISLAND MILL MAN DROWNED

H. P. Wager Victim of Mishap at Fanny Bay.

Courtenay, July 7.—Falling off a boomstick yesterday afternoon, H. P. Wager, aged thirty-eight, was drowned at the Totem Shingle Mill, Fanny Bay.

He was working on the boom when T. Surgenor, of the Deep Bay Logging Company, saw him disappear and immediately raised the alarm. Men went out and dived under the logs but without success. The body was recovered with grappling irons an hour and a quarter after the accident. There was a bruise on the skull and it is believed Wager struck his head and was stunned when he fell.

Wager is a married man with a family living at Union Bay. He has been working at Fanny Bay since Christmas.

EFFORTS FAIL TO END STRIKE

Tense Situation at Omak, Wash., Centre of Lumber Dispute Zone

Associated Press
Spokane, July 7.—The little town of Omak, in north central Washington, was the tense spot today in the lumber strike zone of the Inland Empire. Picket lines in the two-month-old strike were reported more tense after a closed meeting of Omak business men, Biles-Coleman Lumber Company officials and the county commissioners. In a pamphlet appeal to other unions of the state to keep the strikers from privation, the local union charged most of the business men and city council are "controlled by the company."

In Spokane, picketing of operating sawmills continued. Police entered the situation for the first time after a truck had bowed over a strike picket in entering a mill, but they took no action.

Showing their contempt for Communist interveners, union men ejected one at a strikers' meeting when he started to distribute Communist literature.

E. Freed Detained As Audrey Vallette Killing at Chicago Investigated

Associated Press
Chicago, July 7.—Eddie Freed was held at the detective bureau today on the theory his detention would draw his wife into custody for questioning about the slaying of the platinum blonde party girl, Audrey Vallette, in a north side apartment hotel.

Assistant State Attorney Richard Devine said Freed admitted close friendship with Miss Vallette, but declined to confirm the official premises that he was the "Eddie" who played the role of leading man in the victim's love life.

Freed walked into the Hudson Avenue police station yesterday, but claimed he had not seen his wife—Ruth Carmella Freed—since several hours before Miss Vallette was shot to death last Thursday. Mrs. Freed was identified as the woman who fled the scene.

RAIN NEEDED IN ONTARIO

Canadian Press
Toronto, July 7.—Western Canada was not alone in its cry for rain today. Throughout the farming areas of the Lake Huron-Lake Erie district of Ontario farmers reported crops were drying up, pastures were being parched and need for rain was urgent.

Grain crops, hay, vegetables and fruits were all alike in suffering. The provincial picture was brightened by reports from the Ottawa district, where there were ideal growing crops.

London, July 7.—Labor representatives of the Nazi regime in Germany today were banned from participating in plenary sessions of the eleventh annual congress of the International Federation of Trade Unions, whose first public session will begin tomorrow.

"The cutting of the railway line will be followed by night attacks on small garrisons left at important points on the military roads by which the Italians entered the country through Gondar, Dessay and Harar. BANDS ARE MASSING

"Once the rains set in the roads will be washed away and become completely impassable to any kind of motor vehicle. Numerous armed bands, many led by young Ethiopians educated in Europe, are secretly massing around Addis Ababa.

"Another menace to the Italians is the force of Ras Imru, which overran Italian Eritrea in December and retired unbeaten to the highest mountain peaks of northern Ethiopia. This force will probably cut Italian communications in the north and destroy the garrisons at Gondar and Dessay."

FOUR ON TRUCK HURT IN CRASH

Man and Three Women in Hospital in Vancouver After Accident

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 7.—One man and three women today were in a hospital with injuries suffered when a truck in which they were riding was in collision with a street car and burned early this morning.

Roger Leahy, alleged driver of the truck, suffered minor cuts and bruises. Florence Dohm, twenty-seven, suffered a fracture of one arm and possibly other injuries. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Dohm, sixty-three, was cut about the scalp and face, and the other woman, Mrs. Margaret Lowgood, suffered several fractures of ribs and cuts about the face.

Immediately after the crash, the truck burst into flames and several men who witnessed the accident dragged the victims to safety. The vehicle was destroyed.

Considerable damage was done to the front of the street car, but Motorman Kenneth Campbell escaped uninjured.

REPORTS SHOW CROP LOSSES

Dominion Bureau of Statistics Says Grain Estimates on Prairies Shrinking As Hot Weather Continues; Scattered Showers

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 7.—Prairie crop prospects declined steadily during the past week as temperatures ranged far above normal and rain was all but completely lacking, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today in its seventh weekly telegraphic crop report on the plains provinces.

SOME AREAS HAVE SHOWERS
Winnipeg, July 7.—Scattered showers and cooling breezes early today brought a slight respite to the intense heat wave which has gripped the grain producing prairie provinces for more than a week.

Generally cooler temperatures were reported in all sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. While scattered moisture afforded temporary relief to parched wheat stands, observers agreed to afford any permanent benefits to wide areas of the great agricultural region.

Heavy precipitation came in northern Alberta, where 2 of an inch was recorded in the Edmonton district. Minor relief was reported in

Danzig Nazis' Drive Eases Off

NEW STRATEGIC MOVE IS SEEN

Germany Has Revisionists Soften Their Demands to Avoid Stirring Up Trouble With Poland

Canadian Press from Havas, Berlin, July 7.—Anxious to maintain friendly relations with Poland, German government leaders have ordered Danzig Nazis to soften their demands presented to the League of Nations Council last week by Senate president Arthur Greiser, informed quarters said here today.

Taking its cue from Poland's opposition to any revision of the Free City's status under the League of Nations, the Reich has advised the Danzig Nazis to adopt a strategic retreat from their attacks against High Commissioner Sean Lester, it was said.

In no case should Danzig become a source of trouble to Polish-German relations, the Politische und Diplomatische Korrespondenz, semi-official mouthpiece of the Wilhelmstrasse, declared last night.

CONFERENCE AT BERLIN
Greiser, accompanied by four of his aides, left for the Free City shortly before midnight after an entire day spent in conference with Nazi leaders. Official circles declined to divulge the tenor of the conversations, but reliable sources indicated he had been instructed to curb his impetuosity.

The Reich's reported plan to muffle the Danzig Nazis' revisionist aims does not by any means signify the end of the question, political circles emphasized. They predicted those seeking the Free City's return to Germany would pursue one of the two following courses:

1. Attempt, as announced by Albert Forster, Nazi party leader in Danzig, to suppress opposition parties by police measures.

2. Put the proposed revision of the League statute governing the Free City to a plebiscite vote.

Hon. P. J. Veniot's Death Is Mourned

wick had ended in 1925; he had given up the Postmaster-Generalship when his Liberal colleagues under defeat at the polls in 1930, but he was still able, less than a year ago, to carry his own seat so easily that both his opponents lost their deposits.

THIRD COMMONS DEATH

His death was the third among House of Commons members since last year's general election. Percy B. Plunkett, Victoria Conservative, and F. W. Parris, Liberal member for Wright County, Que., both died in the interval.

The veteran New Brunswick Liberal had been in the House of Commons since 1926. He became Postmaster-General, right after his first federal election in that year, and he held the important portfolio until 1935—first Acadia to fill the position.

In religion, Mr. Veniot was a Roman Catholic.

FAMILY AT BEDSIDE

Mrs. Veniot and the six sons were at his bedside when the end came. Walter of Ottawa and Peter J. Jr. of Montreal had arrived Sunday.

PREMIER'S TRIBUTE

Ottawa, July 7.—Prime Minister King today paid the following tribute to Hon. P. J. Veniot, former Postmaster-General and former Premier of New Brunswick, who died last night at Bathurst, N.B.:

"The word of Mr. Veniot's death will be received with deep regret in all parts of Canada. His passing has brought to its close a long career associated with the public life of our country. For almost half a century Mr. Veniot gave unswerving of his energy and ability to public service. At the early age of thirty-one he was elected for the first time to the legislature of New Brunswick. Before he left its halls, he had come to occupy the highest political post in the gift of his native province.

"Through his life, Mr. Veniot was a sincere and ardent Liberal. His courage and conviction won for him the admiration alike of political friend and opponent.

LOYAL FRIEND

"From 1926 to 1930, during which time he held the portfolio of Postmaster-General, his associations with Mr. Veniot were of the closest character. He was throughout the most diligent and loyal of colleagues. In the years of opposition which followed he was equally constant in his industry and fidelity in the present Parliament. He will be remembered by all who know him as a man of sterling integrity, a staunch and consistent advocate of the principles in which he believed, and as the most loyal and devoted of friends. In his passing, Mr. Veniot's native province and his country have lost a foremost citizen.

"For Mrs. Veniot and the other members of the family, there will be the deepest sympathy in their bereavement."

A mind remarkably retentive of figures and a readiness in debate served Hon. P. J. Veniot in good stead in many political campaigns, and notably in the parliamentary session of 1929 when his department was under opposition fire on charges of patronage in post office appointments.

Later as a private member, he started the House of Commons by demanding protection of Parliament against arrest, saying a writ had been issued against him for contempt of court because in a speech in the House he had claimed Royal Canadian Mounted Police were using third degree methods to get evidence in New Brunswick. Turning to the Speaker, he said dramatically:

"Suppose between now and Monday an attempt was made to arrest your honor. I want to say to you and to this House that I would not stand for your arrest. I would use force."

Mr. Veniot received prompt assurance he would enjoy all the protection the law accorded a member. His complaints against C.M.P. were investigated by Chief Justice J. B. M. Baxter, who had succeeded him as Premier in New Brunswick in 1925. The charges were not fully borne out in the subsequent report made by Mr. Justice Baxter as a royal commissioner.

FRIEND OF BONAR LAW

Born at Richibucto, N.B. in 1863, Peter J. Veniot was a boyhood companion of the only Canadian to become Prime Minister of Great Britain, Andrew Bonar Law. He attended the Pictou Academy in Nova Scotia, but formal education stopped early in life and he set out to learn the printing trade. After holding posts in several weeklies in Nova Scotia, he became editor and owner of a weekly paper, Courier des Provinces Maritimes, at Bathurst, N.B.

In the same year, 1894, he was elected to the Legislature. Minister of Public Work in Hon. W. E. Foster's cabinet from 1917 till 1923, he succeeded to the premiership in the latter year.

Postmaster-General of Canada from 1926 till 1930, he won his Commons seat again in 1930, but falling health compelled him to take a less active part in public affairs, and he was not called to the cabinet when the Liberals returned to office in 1935.

Mr. Veniot was married in 1885 to Catherine Melanson. There are six sons—Dr. C. J. Veniot, Lieut. P. J. Veniot Jr., A. S. Veniot, Dr. J. L. Veniot, Lieut. W. L. Veniot and Francis P. Veniot.

NEW LOCARNO CONFERENCE

Associated Press

Brussels, July 7.—An official source said today Premier Paul Van Zeeland of Belgium has invited Italy to attend a conference of Locarno signatories and to specify the exact date for the meeting herself.

Premier Van Zeeland, it was stated, told President Mussolini's government any date between July 10 and 15 would be satisfactory.

The official source said that on the Italian answer depended if and when the conference would meet.

They could plan their holiday as they wanted. They fished, nearly every day and returned to the hotel in the evening, writing letters and postcards. They took a lot of motion pictures of island scenery and the fish they caught.

"We'll be able to show those pictures in Hollywood, so people will know we were not imagining things," Mr. Baxter said. "It was some fishing, believe me. Yesterday we caught three, the biggest a twenty-three-pounder. That's some fish, as far as I'm concerned."

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter are delighted when they think how close Vancouver Island is to Hollywood.

"Why you can fly up here in ten hours," he said. "It's absolutely marvelous, when you come to think of it. We're close enough down there to come to the island for a long week-end."

"My wife and I spoke of the delights of being retired on Vancouver Island. Get yourself a little piece of property, a nice boat and that would be all you would want, with all that fishing and hunting next door. In a few more years I think we'll give serious consideration to that thought."

In their big, high-powered roadster, Mr. and Mrs. Baxter motored about Victoria today. They visited some of the stores and made final plans to sail south tonight in the H. F. Alexander's suite-de-luxe.

SEVENTEEN TO DIE SHORTLY

Japanese Rebel Leaders Will Face Firing Squad Within Five Days

Associated Press

Tokio, July 7.—Seventeen leaders of Japan's military rebellion last February probably will die before a firing squad "within five days," army authorities said today.

The execution is being planned for dawn, the officials declared, but announcement of the shootings will be delayed several hours.

A high military court handed down the death sentences yesterday in a judgment more than 10,000 words long after an exhaustive investigation of the uprising, which brought death to three of Japan's elder statesmen.

Five conspirators were given life imprisonment and forty-four non-commissioned officers and eight civilians were ordered sent to prison for from eighteen months to fifteen years. The court suspended sentences of twenty-seven lesser offenders.

Early indications showed widespread public approval of the court martial's drastic action.

ARMY SYMPATHY

A communique, however, issued by the army-recognized—some degree of righteousness in the motives of the rebel officers, who acted chiefly because of resentment over current conditions in the nation and patriotic sentiment.

"However, they cannot escape responsibility for disobeying an imperial rescript on military discipline," the statement added, "and further having used units of the imperial army for unauthorized ends. Hence the sentences were inflicted."

A further note of sympathy was found in the description of the motives of rebel leaders based on their own testimony as cited in the judgment.

The leaders, the testimony disclosed, "deplored the corrupt tendencies of the age, the flippancy of the public mind, and felt deep concern for the future of the country."

They considered the time had come to advance the empire's fortunes by the promotion of a national spirit and provision of adequate national armaments.

FEARS FOR FAMILIES

"They believed, moreover, the soldiers at the front and in barracks lacked assurance their families, left behind in poverty-stricken agrarian and fishing villages, would be adequately cared for."

"They believed the authorities' spiritless in coping with this emergency, that both the domestic administration and foreign diplomacy were on the decline, while political parties sought only their selfish ends and financial magnates tried only to satisfy their own avarice regardless of the misery of the people."

"They believed the emperor's supreme prerogatives violated by measures taken, however, until the Egyptian forces are strong enough to assume their tasks, the newspaper added.

When the Egyptian troops are sufficiently strengthened, all British garrisons throughout the country, including the one at Ismailia, strategic defence point on the Suez Canal, will be discontinued, The Times said.

TO KEEP AIR BASES

Only the British general headquarters at Cairo, the royal air force bases at Ismailia and Abukir and the army and navy base at Alexandria will be maintained, the newspaper asserted.

With withdrawal of the British troops, The Times said, Egypt has agreed to construct a system of modern highways linking all parts of the country so the British forces can be dispatched to any danger point at short notice.

A high military court handed down the death sentences yesterday in a judgment more than 10,000 words long after an exhaustive investigation of the uprising, which brought death to three of Japan's elder statesmen.

Five conspirators were given life imprisonment and forty-four non-commissioned officers and eight civilians were ordered sent to prison for from eighteen months to fifteen years. The court suspended sentences of twenty-seven lesser offenders.

Early indications showed widespread public approval of the court martial's drastic action.

ARMY SYMPATHY

A communique, however, issued by the army-recognized—some degree of righteousness in the motives of the rebel officers, who acted chiefly because of resentment over current conditions in the nation and patriotic sentiment.

"However, they cannot escape responsibility for disobeying an imperial rescript on military discipline," the statement added, "and further having used units of the imperial army for unauthorized ends. Hence the sentences were inflicted."

A further note of sympathy was found in the description of the motives of rebel leaders based on their own testimony as cited in the judgment.

The leaders, the testimony disclosed, "deplored the corrupt tendencies of the age, the flippancy of the public mind, and felt deep concern for the future of the country."

They considered the time had come to advance the empire's fortunes by the promotion of a national spirit and provision of adequate national armaments.

FEARS FOR FAMILIES

"They believed, moreover, the soldiers at the front and in barracks lacked assurance their families, left behind in poverty-stricken agrarian and fishing villages, would be adequately cared for."

"They believed the authorities' spiritless in coping with this emergency, that both the domestic administration and foreign diplomacy were on the decline, while political parties sought only their selfish ends and financial magnates tried only to satisfy their own avarice regardless of the misery of the people."

"They believed the emperor's supreme prerogatives violated by measures taken, however, until the Egyptian forces are strong enough to assume their tasks, the newspaper added.

When the Egyptian troops are sufficiently strengthened, all British garrisons throughout the country, including the one at Ismailia, strategic defence point on the Suez Canal, will be discontinued, The Times said.

TO KEEP AIR BASES

Only the British general headquarters at Cairo, the royal air force bases at Ismailia and Abukir and the army and navy base at Alexandria will be maintained, the newspaper asserted.

With withdrawal of the British troops, The Times said, Egypt has agreed to construct a system of modern highways linking all parts of the country so the British forces can be dispatched to any danger point at short notice.

London, July 7.—The new Anglo-Egyptian treaty expected to be signed this week will place defence of Egypt and the Suez Canal in the hands of the Egyptian army and provide for withdrawal of most of Britain's armed forces, The London Times said today.

LOCAL WOMAN IN HIGHWAY MISHAP
Mrs. Henry Rive, Lincoln Road, Passenger in Car Which Left Road

Word was received here today that Mrs. Henry Rive, 2382 Lincoln Road, was injured yesterday in an accident on Yellowstone Park Highway. It was not believed her injuries would prevent her from continuing a holiday trip she was making with relatives through Wyoming.

Mrs. Rive was driving with her sister, Mrs. R. Wightman, Dr. Robert Wightman, and their daughter, Mary, all of Seattle.

The telegraphic report stated their interest in the roadside antics of bears had caused the car to swerve into the ditch. They were slightly bruised and shaken by the jolt.

Mrs. Rive and Mrs. Wightman are daughters of Mrs. E. J. Mustard, 613 Niagara Street, the former being the wife of Henry Rive, dairy commissioner of British Columbia.

WOMEN'S WORK IS EXHIBITED

Langford, July 7.—Many visitors were present at the Women's Institute Hall on Tuesday afternoon when locally made materials, conceived by Miss L. M. A. Savory, were exhibited. The exhibits included fancywork in wool and silk embroidery, Italian cut work, knitted suits, hooked rugs with wool and silk materials, shawls, handsome lingerie and smoking; a radio, wood and metal work, built in plaster of Paris, painting and dairy exhibits. Health posters attracted attention. Mrs. R. J. Smith displayed old-fashioned "dollies," lace and baby clothes. Mr. T. H. Hughes exhibited a table, tray and lamp shades made in Brazilian hardwood. The antique section was interesting, among the exhibits being a collection of handicrafts made of walrus tusks by the Eskimos, lent by R. J. Phillips. Paisley and silk shawls, samplers, china, silver spoons, over 100 years old, made the collection varied and unique.

Girls of Colchester, Langford, Happy Valley and Luxton enjoyed an overnight camp at Whitty's Beach, Mrs. E. C. Hutchinson and Miss Elizabeth Welch assisted the convenor, Miss D. Wilkie, R.N.

CHURCH LEADER DIES

BRITISH WATCH HINDENBURG

London Papers Draw Attention to German Airship's Crossing Over England; Hindenburg Flew Over Nova Scotia and St. Lawrence, But Canada Not Protesting

Canadian Press from Havas, London, July 7.—Flights of the German airship Hindenburg over strategic areas of Britain and Canada were again the topic of anxious comment in the British press today.

On each of its four voyages so far, the Lindenburg Daily Express said, the Hindenburg has chosen different routes to cross Great Britain. It has crossed the industrial area of the Midlands and the naval shipyards along the coast of the channel.

When it was in Canada on its last trip, the paper went on, the ship hovered for quite some time over Prince Edward Island, and the ports of Saint John and Halifax. Those two ports, it was pointed out, are the only ice-free harbors on the Canadian Atlantic coast, and both have dry-dock facilities capable of accommodating warships.

The crews of the Hindenburg and the Graf Zeppelin, the paper recalled, served during the war.

Ottawa, July 7.—No official action is likely to be taken regarding unannounced flights over Canadian territory of the German zeppelin Hindenburg, it was learned here.

Officers of the dirigible omitted recently when they flew over the Maritime provinces to advise the Canadian government of their intention, although they did so on the last trip when they flew up the St. Lawrence River as far east as Montreal.

Canadian air regulations provide that aircraft of nations subscribing to the international air convention may fly over this country without permission. Germany, however, does not subscribe to the convention.

Advice from the Hindenburg that her officers intended to pursue a course last week up the St. Lawrence, it was learned, was received too late for any effective protest even if one had been planned.

For the third year in succession, Rowley's Boys' Band attended the July 4 celebration at Port Angeles. The boys were accorded a rousing reception by the parade. R. Pelton, a member of the band, won a prize in an amateur contest conducted in connection with the celebration.

Programme of music was given by the band at the sports and the boys also participated in the parade. R. Pelton, a member of the band, won a prize in an amateur contest conducted in connection with the celebration.

ECHOES OF C.C.F. STORM HEARD

B.C. Convention Declares Party Not Opposed to Marxian Socialism

Canadian Press, Vancouver, July 7.—Echoes of the storm in the British Columbia Legislature last February when Rev. Robert Connell, opposition leader, declared the C.C.F. was not a Marxian Socialist movement and opposed the stand of E. E. Winch, M.P.P. for Burnaby, were heard at the closing session of the federation's provincial convention here yesterday.

When discussion of a resolution declaring the convention was not opposed to Marxian socialism was presented, E. E. Winch sprang to his feet.

"I move that the foregoing be changed to 'this convention states its position, clearly and emphatically, as endorsing Marxian socialism,'" he declared.

"Do you consider the words 'clearly and emphatically' necessary?" asked Chairman W. W. Lefebvre.

"Most emphatically so," Mr. Winch replied. "I have made some important statements in the Legislature on this question as a result of which I have been repudiated the length and breadth of Canada."

The motion carried, but the Winch amendment was defeated.

ATTACKS BY SPEAKERS
"Red-baiting" by C.C.F. speakers came under fire during discussion of a resolution demanding that attacks on the Communist Party by C.C.F. speakers cease.

Several delegates spoke on the necessity of facing the real issues between socialism and capitalism instead of attacking organizations working along lines similar to those of the C.C.F.

The resolution was adopted.

INVESTIGATION PLAN
A resolution calling for all actions taken by B.C. government in the past ten years to be investigated, if deemed advisable, by a C.C.F. government taking office, with a view to prosecuting any guilty individuals, was endorsed.

Roger Bray, newly-elected chairman of the industrial and unemployment committee, was successful in securing endorsement of a resolution recording the convention as being opposed to the policy of "work for relief."

"Working for relief at little more than relief rates lowers the standard of the whole working class," Bray stated.

Death Sentence Is Given Second Time

Canadian Press, Dorchester, N.B., July 7.—Daniel Bannister, young lumberjack, who was convicted once and sentenced to the gallows for the murder of Phillip Lake, was found guilty again yesterday evening and sentenced to be hanged September 23.

His brother, Arthur, convicted also of murdering Lake in an extortion plot that took three lives at Pacific Junction, N.B., last January, is to be hanged August 20. Their mother, Mrs. May Bannister, is in the penitentiary for the harboring of Lake's baby Betty, the tiny figure around whom the weird backwoods crime revolved.

Asserting it "comes in my line of duty," Mrs. Florence Thompson, forty-two-year-old sheriff of Davies County, announced she would serve as executioner July 31 when Rainey Betha, twenty-two, negro, is scheduled to be hanged for the June 7 assault-slaying robbery of seventy-year-old Mrs. Eliza Edwards. A widow, Mrs. Thompson is the mother of three sons and a daughter.

NEW BULGARIAN DEMOCRATIC MOVE

Associated Press, Vienna, July 7.—Two pioneers in authoritarian government — Austria and Bulgaria — have found dictatorshipships too strong for their national peace of mind.

Both are moving definitely toward democracy.

Chancellor Kurt von Schuschnigg of Austria has ejected the country's chief exponent of dictatorial Fascism, Prince Ernst Rudiger von Starheimburg, has rebuilt his cabinet along more liberal lines, and has promised a return to "practical democracy."

King Boris III of Bulgaria has conducted numerous conferences with parliamentary leaders to point toward abandonment of the tradition and spirit of totalitarianism.

Liberalization of the Bulgarian cabinet, expected for weeks, has been accomplished since the government of Premier George Moussovanoff resigned last week and was reconstituted.

The Bulgarian dictatorship, headed by Kimon Georgiev, was accepted by the King after the cabinet of Nicholas Moussovanoff was overthrown in a political-military coup in May, 1934, and political parties were abolished.

AUSTRIAN EFFORTS
In Austria, efforts are progressing to broaden the base of the administration. One method of accomplishing this governmental change has already begun—that of dropping as many possible Starheimburg's military Heimwehr and granting increased power to the clerical group which is friendly to Schuschnigg and an enemy of Fascism.

"We want that real, classical democracy in our guild state in order to call forth a new life," the Chancellor declared recently. "It means the most capable are not the loudest, and also not the richest, but that the most capable representative of individual guilds, both employers and employees, take care of their own affairs."

MANITOBA MINER LOSES HIS LIFE
The Pas, Man., July 7.—One miner lost his life and two others were in the hospital here today as results of an accident in the Gurney gold mines at Cranberry Portage, Man.

Dean McPherson died from burns suffered when he was overcome by gas on the 375-foot level and fell on his lamp which ignited his clothing.

Victor Malinaki, with McPherson when he fell, also was overcome by gas. His lamp broke when he fell and he suffered severe burns.

Art Kerman, moving speedily from the 250-foot level to aid McPherson and Malinaki, succeeded in saving Malinaki, but suffered from gas and injuries in his efforts.

The accident occurred Saturday, and Malinaki and Kerman were flown the fifty-five miles southward from Cranberry Portage to The Pas, 300 miles north of Winnipeg. They are expected to recover.

Veteran Still Fires Ottawa Noon Gun

Appropriation of $150 Voted Again This Year for Ernest Snowden, Who for Thirty Years Has Touched Off Crimean War Bronze Cannon on Parliament Hill

Canadian Press, Ottawa, July 7.—Parliament was thrifty this year, but the government dealt kindly with one old custom. Hidden away among the vast sums passed this session was $150 a year for the man who fires the noon day gun.

Visitors to the capital touring the buildings at noon time and hearing the boom of the 12 o'clock cannon might imagine a gun crew drawn up to a modern howitzer. Instead, if they walk to a corner of Hill Park they find a great bronze cannon originally cast in the Woolwich Arsenal for the Crimean War.

It is fired by a slight, white-haired man who arrives on a bicycle with shoulders slightly bowed as if under a weight. Most of his life he has been a postman.

A quarter century and more has elapsed since Ernest Snowden first plodded through snow, sleet or sizzling sun to charge and fire the muzzle-loading cannon. He has only three holidays a year, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Good Fridays. On Sundays the gun is fired at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and only once has it failed to announce noon on a week day. Then something broke.

PRACTICE STARTED IN 1868
Since it first boomed forth from its station by the House of Parliament April 1, 1868, three men have filled the office of keeper of the noon-day gun. In 1916 after the Parliament House fire the gun was moved to its present position on Nepean Point facing the building across the outlet of the Rideau Canal, because it shook the ground and hampered building.

Another great minister—I am told he is going to be the next Prime Minister—said, "Whatever happens, there will be no cowardly surrender."

He went on: "They bolted. Who rattled? Hah, I am told, desert-rattling ship. These are rats that scuttled the ship."

"It is one of the calamities of the hour . . . that, at the moment you require qualities of nerve, courage, resolution, vision, perhaps more than in the days of the war, you have a government in power completely devoid of these qualities."

CABINET WILL HEAR JOBLESS

Men in Edmonton Demonstrate to Show Their Willingness to Work

Canadian Press, Edmonton, July 7.—An orderly demonstration by more than 500 unemployed men, staged to show their "willingness to work," ended quietly here late yesterday after the men had crowded through the corridors of the Legislative Building.

The crowd dispersed after a five-man delegation had interviewed Provincial Secretary E. C. Manning.

There was no disorder. The demonstration, the men said, was called to show they were ready to begin work on proposed highway construction projects.

When the delegation emerged from Mr. Manning's office, Jack Bloom, spokesman, spoke to the men gathered in the fourth-floor rotunda.

DINING-HALLS CRITICIZED
Bloom said he told the Provincial Secretary of the unemployed's willingness to work on highway construction, and added, "We told him our wishes to eliminate the soup kitchens and get cash relief grants, either in currency or scrip or some other way." The unemployed have charged conditions in existing dining-halls are poor, demanding the right to eat in restaurants of their own choosing.

The spokesman said an interview with the cabinet would be granted the men, "probably early Friday," when Premier Abernethy and other ministers will be back in the city.

Police rushed to the building in answer to emergency calls, but did not prevent the men from entering. The demonstrators left quietly after Bloom's short address.

MAKING PLANS FOR CORONATION

Committee Recently Named Holds its First Meeting in London

Canadian Press, London, July 7.—The first meeting of the committee recently appointed to make arrangements for the coronation next May was held here today, with the Duke of York as chairman.

Among the forty-two members present were the Archbishop of Canterbury Sir John Simon, Home Secretary Viscount Halifax, Lord Chancellor, Prime Minister Baldwin, Major Clement Attlee, Labor leader, and Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader.

Five members were elected to form a special permanent committee.

LOYD GEORGE FLAYS LEADERS

Baldwin Cabinet "Scuttling Ship," He Says in British By-election Speech

Associated Press, Derby, Eng., July 7.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, in a by-election speech yesterday evening, called Prime Minister Baldwin and his ministers "rats that scuttled the ship."

He flayed the cabinet particularly for its handling of international affairs, including the League of Nations and the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Mr. Lloyd George spoke at a meeting of the Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction, in connection with the by-election campaign to fill the seat of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, former Colonial Secretary who resigned from the House of Commons following the budget "leak."

"The battle for peace has been lost through feebleness and poltroonery on the part of the greatest nation in the world, through her leaders," the wartime Prime Minister declared.

"Who rattled?" he asked. When a man in the audience interjected: "Simon (the John Simon, Home Secretary), Mr. Lloyd George retorted:

"Yes, well, that's the kind of an animal he is."

Later, apparently referring to Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Lloyd George said:

"Another great minister—I am told he is going to be the next Prime Minister—said, 'Whatever happens, there will be no cowardly surrender.'"

He went on: "They bolted. Who rattled? Hah, I am told, desert-rattling ship. These are rats that scuttled the ship."

The Right Spirit

"The British and ourselves have sought to lead the world in the path of peace and disarmament... unfortunately, so far, we have failed, but in a world armed and armed I will expect this nation and my own to match gun with gun, ship with ship, plane with plane, and man with man in protection of our countries and our homes."—Hon. Robert W. Bingham, United States Ambassador to Great Britain, speaking at the annual Independence Day dinner at Dorchester House, London.

AS MR. BINGHAM DELIVERED himself of these sentiments he probably realized what 140,000,000 English-speaking people on the North American continent could do for world peace once they could be persuaded to put their minds to it. Canada and the United States, of course, have set the world an example of how to live peacefully without gun or fort on an international boundary line extending nearly 5,000 miles.

It may be expected that William Randolph Hearst and his chain of newspapers will figuratively take Mr. Bingham over the Hearstian editorial knee and tell him, between spankings, that it is no business of an American Ambassador to stand up in London and suggest anything like an Anglo-American arrangement for the preservation of peace in this unhappy world of ours.

The public of the United States, however, after having pondered over the veterans' bonus bill and the $2,000,000,000 commitment to which they have been obligated, may not be averse to a deal, in the interests of peace, with that quarter of the world's population which enjoys the freedom of governmental institutions under the Union Jack.

As Mr. Bingham said on Sunday night: "We know that the British seek peace, and so do we. Wherever the British flag flies there is both freedom and justice. That is an ideal to which we Americans also adhere. In common with you we loathe war and we have pledged ourselves by treaties never to permit war or aggression and British and Americans will keep their words."

The times are out of joint; the tendency to dictatorships has set everybody's nerves on edge; but the suggestion of Mr. Bingham, and all that it implies, is one that should take root throughout the British Empire.

Still Climbing

FROM PRACTICALLY EVERY business source in Canada comes the welcome news that the Dominion is surely climbing out of the depths of depression. Reports from Ottawa tell us that revenues under practically every head are increasing, that exports and imports are growing from month to month, and that the general tenor of trade and commerce, external and internal, has taken on a healthy hue in the last month or so.

Canadian Business, our Dominion magazine which is constantly studying economic trends, tells us that while unseasonable weather has hampered many lines of retail trade and certain farming activities, there are reports which indicate that fall buying in the wholesale districts looks encouraging. At the same time, imports of raw materials by the textile industry have been in such heavy volume as to presage either a rise in raw material prices or a heavier demand for merchandise. Basically, the situation is promising. Canadian Business goes on:

"In the farming districts of the eastern and Maritime Provinces, damage to trees and small fruits is less than was originally anticipated, while rains in the west have helped the wheat crop at the start of its critical growing period. In British Columbia, however, serious damage has been suffered but conditions are now more satisfactory."

"The industrial areas are reflecting the usual seasonal slump. Steel production is down slightly but the greater than normal increase in pig iron tends to indicate that the decline in retail operations is temporary. Our primary industries, however, continue to create records. Exports of nickel and copper remain at post-war highs for this time of year."

It takes time to get out of an economic depression such as that with which the whole world was assailed in the fall of 1929. Canada has suffered; but the Dominion, under wise economic policies, is improving her lot. A young country such as ours has nothing to fear. The spirit of the pioneers who laid the foundations for our expansion and influence among the nations of the world still is sustained.

Migration Tides

AN EFFORT IS BEING MADE BY the National Citizen's Union of London to stimulate emigration from Britain to the outlying parts of the empire. A speaker advocating such a movement of population has been visiting Western Canada.

We doubt the wisdom of such a government-fostered attempt to move population. We believe that when economic conditions are right, migration to this and other dominions will resume of itself; to force it would be running contrary to economic law and from our own experience in Canada would create greater problems than it would solve.

Our position in this matter is supported by the union's own figures on migration between Britain and empire countries overseas:

	Net Movements	Average Per Year
1910 to 1913	1,001,401	250,351
1919 to 1929	1,792,370	448,093
1930	16,297	16,297
Net Movement Inwards to Britain
1931	48,888	48,888
1932	66,890	66,890
1933	41,776	41,776
1934	20,600	20,600
1935	16,463	16,463

These figures reflect the changing trends in economic conditions during the last quarter of a century in Britain as compared with the overseas countries. Until 1930, while the trend was strongly upwards overseas, the emigration flow from Britain was heavy. After 1930, when the depression hit the overseas countries harder, the flow reversed itself and the movement was to Britain, where conditions appeared comparatively better. During the last two years under improving conditions overseas the flow to Britain has fallen off. Only a slight further improvement would seem to be necessary to turn the tide once more in our direction.

Migration obeys an economic law, automatically adjusting itself to changing conditions. Attempts to force it into unnatural channels has proved costly, and often, to the individuals affected, disastrous.

A Staunch Canadian

IN THE LITTLE VILLAGE OF Bathurst in New Brunswick, Hon. Peter J. Veniot, formerly a provincial Premier and afterward Dominion Postmaster-General in the government of Mr. Mackenzie King until 1930, lies dead today at the age of seventy-two.

A staunch Liberal, ultra-democratic in his outlook, he gave forty-two years of his life to the public service. Death claimed him in the village in which he began his political career more than four decades ago. His remains will be committed on Thursday morning in the cemetery adjoining the Sacred Heart Church which he used to attend.

As Prime Minister of his native province, as Postmaster-General of the Dominion, the late Mr. Veniot discharged his duties efficiently in every sense of the term. He was not bound by narrow partisanship. Merit, with him, counted more than anything else.

The Dominion of Canada, in the passing of Hon. Peter Veniot, has lost a distinguished citizen.

Power to Influence

FEW PERSONS REALIZE HOW completely their lives are controlled by the public prints. A free man may say in all sincerity: "I make my own decisions and do as I please, and nobody leads me or tells me what to think." It is true that nobody coerces him or controls him by force; but in choosing his way he is influenced unwittingly by what he reads, and he believes this or that because somebody willed it so.

Convincing publicity determined his choice of a lead pencil, watch, car, summer resort, cigarette and tooth paste. The choice was his, but he made it at last because a group of able men sitting around a table once said: "Let us."

The most astonishingly successful advertising campaign of recent times was that by which women were persuaded to smoke. They did not begin it because they were "emancipated" or because they hungered for tobacco. They saw pretty girls smoking in the advertisements, and read in the news columns that everybody was doing it, and they went and did likewise. Smart publicity.

Because publicity has such power, we often wonder why it is not more called upon for socially constructive purposes. For such purposes, the possibilities of subtle, persistent publicity, truthful and yet indirect, would be almost limitless.

Notes

Equalizing the tax burden so often does not mean equalizing what you pay but what you have left.

We cannot see it, but our grandchildren will long for these adventurous days when civilization was in the making.

What every doctor knows: Many a man cannot take a rest because his family needs his support. So he works himself to death and leaves his family broke.

Now that Lord Ponsonby, Labor peer, says the British Secretary of War is a "half-wit" who should be confined in a criminal lunatic asylum, we know they are still taking their politics seriously, if not strenuously, over there.

The trend of modern specialization is set out by Dr. Edwin F. Gay, Harvard economist, when he says: "The scientist and the scholar have no choice but to know more and more about less and less."

Some of the C.C.F.-ers seem to have got a bit hot under the collar. They wanted to "impeach" Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition in the British Columbia Legislature, the other day in Vancouver. In the judgment of the majority, however, Mr. Connell is a fit and proper person to lead his party in this province. We may not agree with some of the arguments which the reverend gentleman advances at times; but he obviously is so far above an element which blazes the three supposedly magic initials as to treat the diatribes against him with contempt.

Loose Ends

It gets jollier and jollier and madder and madder—with sane facts to prove it—Mr. Hawkesworth discovers something we knew—and a refugee demands worms.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

JOLLY PLACE

READING THROUGH a batch of newspapers and reviews at our lake last night, it occurred to me that this is the most amusing period in all history, an era of high comedy and low farce such as the dull Victorians never dreamed of. So I have jotted down some vagrant and obscure items of news just to show you how delightfully insane we are becoming.

In Berlin, Der Angriff, a Nazi newspaper explained that Schmelling beat the negro, Louis, because before the fight he "was allowed to speak with the Reichsleiter and his ministers, and from that moment Schmelling's will for victory was boundless."

In Arkansas, Mrs. Sue Blagden was captured and flogged by five southern gentlemen because she was trying to help some negroes who had been beaten by the same gentlemen. These gentlemen explained that they were protecting southern womanhood.

In Geneva, a young Swiss Fascist dressed up like Emperor Haile Selassie was warmly entertained by civic dignitaries and laid wreaths on various war monuments. Meanwhile, the real Mr. Selassie, whom the Powers had sworn to protect and whom they recognized still as Emperor of Ethiopia, left England and only fifty people saw him off on his train, while a single French official met him in Paris. On the same train, but in a different car, slept the British foreign minister, the ex-Prime Minister, who had forced Sir Samuel Hoare out of the government because he favored giving only half of Ethiopia to Italy.

In Ethiopia, little black boys were enlisted in Mussolini's armies and the parading about now in uniform as "Sons of the Wolf," the same wolf which suckled Romulus and Remus, founders of Rome. The wolf would be surprised if he could see their color. So would Romulus and Remus.

In Philadelphia, where the Democratic Party of the United States met in convention to renominate President Roosevelt and draft the platform for the next four years, a jolly time was had by all. According to Time, the news magazine, "the lobby of the Bellevue-Stratford and the stairs down to its bar were strewn with Democratic soap in their cups that they could not reach their seats in the convention hall. In direct violation of state liquor laws, downtown restaurants and hotel bars sold liquor on Sunday. An obliging magistrate stayed open all night within three blocks of the convention hall to release visitors who forced themselves into the hands of the police."

While Mr. Selassie was hurried out of England unceremoniously by the back door, another black gentleman, Sheikh Hamad bin Ismail Khalifa, ruler of the Bahrein Islands in the Persian Gulf, was feted in London, received by the King and made a Knight Commander of the British Empire. Britain is going to use his islands for a new naval base and air port. Mr. Selassie is no more to anyone, only a serious embarrassment. In Nuremberg, the newspaper, Der Stürmer, regretted to observe "that Jewish clothing stores still believe they are permitted to give their mannikins in the show windows heads with Aryan features. We propose that all commercial and professional organizations of the Reich be vigilant now and insist that from now on Jewish clothing stores provide their mannikins with heads having Semitic features."

League of Nations circles, according to The New York Times, were reported to have been shocked by the disclosure that the International Red Cross had refused to send gas masks to Ethiopia during the Italian invasion. The Red Cross explained that it had refused the request of its Ethiopian branch because the application failed to specify the purpose for which the masks would be used.

These items show you that the main requirement of a thinking man in our civilization today is a sense of humor and a just taste for comedy. Otherwise he couldn't take it.

WHERE ARE WE?

ALLAN SPENCER HAWKSWORTH, noted American scientist, has lately published the last new theory of the universe in the last two or three months. He denies flatly the popular notion that all the stars in the universe (in which our earth is a tiny fragment of a tenth member) are all rushing away from one another at millions of miles per second, and that the boundaries of our galaxy are thus constantly growing larger.

The other astronomers had estimated exactly where all the stars and collections of stars lay by estimating their speed and direction of travel. But Mr. Hawkesworth argues that all these calculations are absurd since it takes the light of the distant stars millions of years to reach the earth, and long before the time they may have turned off in another direction or grown tired of the race and stopped for a rest. From this Mr. Hawkesworth starts the scientific world with the remarkable conclusion that it is impossible to figure where the stars are or where the earth is or where it is going, or anything else about it.

This confirms a suspicion one has held secretly despite the astronomer for a long time. Science is a complicated method of discovering what we know about the universe already, namely, that we know practically nothing.

REFUGEE

WHILE THIS COLUMN was in painful process of construction, the little boy next door found a tiny birdling which had fallen from an invisible nest somewhere up in a great fir tree. Fortunately, nearby at a swimming party, were three of Victoria's most eminent young medical men, one a throat specialist, another a specialist in internal medicine, and a third a child specialist. With such skilled advice, it has been possible to prescribe a diet of chopped worms which were fed by the throat specialist, while the specialist in internal medicine observed the heart action and the child specialist superintended the operation.

The worm specialist, which is I, dug up the entire garden to supply the worms. The other specialists said the birdling would eat six times his own weight in worms every day, or about thirty or forty worms. Our garden here is six feet by four and the most worms it has ever held is four, which are urgently required by the little boy next door for catching crayfish. Greater love hath no man than this that a man give up his fishing worms for his friend. There is only one greater sacrifice, and that is mine. It looks now as if I were going to spend the summer digging, and the garden already is a wreck. Still, that's a price worth paying for more and the three specialists are still in consultation. If the birdling can survive them, it can probably survive my worms and the normal wear and tear of a summer cottage. In fact, it can probably survive anything.

SEVENTY-FOUR—AND NO PENSION

To the Editor—I am wondering if the government will change the twenty-year residence-in-Canada requirement for old age pensioners to qualify. I have nothing, and am nearly seventy-four. I have been in Victoria seventeen years. It would be a God-send for those like me who have nothing. In England the time is set at twelve years. Why the difference here?

"ANXIOUS TO KNOW,"
Admiral's Road.

PROTEST FROM OAK BAY

To the Editor—I noticed it has been decided by the municipality of Oak Bay to close that part of Beach Drive which runs through the golf course, during the golf matches to be played here toward the end of the present month.

I was always under the impression that a street, such as this, was a part of the King's Highway and not under the control of even the municipality or town through which it runs, and that the public had the right-of-way, so long as the road, or street, was not under repair and closed for that purpose. In this event, it would appear that it is being closed simply to prevent the public from watching the games of the highway without having to pay an admission fee. This, to me, would appear to be favoring an organization to the detriment of the general public and I question whether it can be legally done.

The reason for this course of action is sure to be for the purpose of controlling the traffic. Now, if this is the case, why cannot the street be kept open for general traffic and patrolled by the local force on motor cycles, in order that there may be no congestion of traffic or obstruction in the way of parked cars. Surely this would not be a difficult matter, as a small force could keep the street in passable shape.

A PEDESTRIAN.

"A FULL CEMETERY"

To the Editor—I see a letter under the above heading and signed by one J. O. Stinson. This gentleman could very easily have found out by inquiring of any public official who has to do with these matters. Instead, a letter is written to the press, leaving in the minds of perhaps many people (unless it is answered) the impression that the unfortunate man or woman who passes away and has no friends or funds to pay for the funeral is dumped into any hole and nobody cares.

"Is there a pauper's field?" says Mr. Stinson. We have no pauper graves in the Greater Victoria district, and we do not recognize any man or woman as a pauper. He is buried alongside other people who are able to pay for their plots and funerals, and in exactly the same way. The writer has been to many of these funerals, and it is with a deep sense of appreciation to the funeral parlors of Victoria that I can honestly admit that no one could or can see any difference between the burial of these and the ones that some people pay large amounts for.

If I am buried in the same way, certainly my own people could find no grounds for complaint, and it is equally certain I would not.

ALARMING CIVIC SITUATION

To the Editor—A number of "penny-wise, pound-foolish" suggestions have been made, none of which would hinder this city from becoming an empty eggshell. It is evicted that no one has an authority than the government can prevent the anticipated breaking up of Victoria, and to that end the government should be approached with importunity until the right remedy is applied, and justice is done to Victoria! That something has not been done

In British Columbia the proportion is probably equally large, if not greater.

When in Great Britain at the commencement of this century income tax rose to one shilling in the pound, or 8 per cent. British taxpayers imagined that the end of the world had come; that the whole financial structure was tottering and that they might just as well immediately start making application for admission to the nearest poor house. How little they realized just what governments could do in the way of spending when they really got into their stride and what burdens the taxpayers could shoulder when the necessity really arose—or at least when governments became convinced that such a necessity existed.

BRITAIN'S FASCISTS

From a London Correspondent
From my office window I had a splendid view of British Fascists on the march on Sunday. The black shirts of Britain were on their way to a rally in Victoria Park in the east end, where "the leader," Sir Oswald Mosley, competed in lung power with the local "Reds."

Two things impressed me about our Fascists: Their poor physique, and the way they seemed to be modelling themselves on the German Nazis.

There were men, women and children in the ranks of the marchers—mostly men. There was a contingent of children in a sort of grey uniform—the "Mosley Youth" members, perhaps.

The women wore black blouses and skirts and were of all ages, shapes and sizes.

The men, in their revealing black shirts, marched in a ragged fashion that would not be tolerated in the average troop of Boy Scouts. But what struck me was the way they walked. They were not marching, they were shambling. They would get past an army doctor.

Round shoulders and narrow chests and spectacles seemed the rule rather than the exception. One thing: Nobody could accuse them of looking a bloodthirsty body of men. Like Nazis I have seen marching through the streets of Munich, these

ART

An artist was shown a futuristic painting at the Royal Academy. "What is it?" he asked.

"A cow grazing," was the reply. "Where is the grass?"

"Oh, she has eaten it all." "Then where is the cow?"

"You don't think she'd be such a fool as to stay there when it had all gone!"

Lord Riverdale told this story at the luncheon of the British Standards Institution.

Question: Is a landlord bound to keep in repair premises which he has leased?

Answer: In the absence of an express agreement to the contrary, the landlord is not bound to repair. The tenant must take the premises as they stand.

PRESS PARTY HEADS EAST

Touring British Newspapermen Delighted With Island Visit

Turning about in Victoria, the British press party which visited here over the week-end in course of a Canadian tour left on the midnight boat for Vancouver.

They are headed for Lake Louise and Banff, and will be in Calgary for the annual stampede. Today from Vancouver a visit to the B.C. Nickel mine was planned.

Yesterday afternoon the visitors were given a farewell tea by the Victoria branch of the B.C. Institute of Journalists at the Empress Hotel. P. B. M. Roberts, London correspondent of The Scotsman, spoke on behalf of the party in expressing appreciation of the enjoyable stay they had in Victoria and their delight with Vancouver Island.

Earlier in the day they were received at Government House, and Robert Lynd, the famous essayist of The New-Republic and The New Statesman, saw five of the humming birds for which he searched ever since he reached the city. He took with him as a souvenir a humming bird's nest.

Bishop's Ashes In Cathedral

Ashes of the late Bishop C. de V. Schofield were deposited in their final resting place on Sunday at choral Eucharist at Christ Church Cathedral, when Bishop Sexton and Dean Quinston took part in simple but impressive rites.

The resting place for the time being is marked with a cross, but later will be replaced by a permanent stone which will contain a record of the late bishop's life.

Dean Quinston paid tribute to Bishop Schofield's work and achievements and pledged the loyalty of the wardens and the congregation to his successor.

SURVIVOR OF KHARTUM DIES

Nanaimo, July 9.—One of the six known survivors of the British expedition which marched to the relief of Khartum in 1898 died in Nanaimo Hospital on Sunday morning in the person of Arthur A. Russell at the age of seventy-four years. Late Mr. Russell acted as captain of the Church Lads' Brigade of St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, which was organized by the late Canon Cooper.

For the last forty-eight years Mr. Russell has been engaged in farming at Nanaimo Bay. He was predeceased by his wife in 1932, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. G. L. Webster, Nanaimo, and Mrs. W. M. Chugh, Victoria. The funeral will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the French Creek Church, interment to be in the Parkville Cemetery. Rev. A. G. Bagshaw will officiate. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the D. J. Jenkins Co., Limited, Nanaimo.

Chemainus

Chemainus, July 7.—Chemainus women's Benefit Association No. 19 met in the small hall on July 2, Mrs. J. R. Underwood was in the chair. Mrs. J. Cook reported on the telephone court whilst party given by the apron committee.

The resignation of Mrs. J. Cook as guard captain was received and Miss Pat English was appointed in her place. The treasurer outlined a programme suggesting Edna Jacques be invited to speak at a meeting here. This was left to the ways and means committee to arrange.

Mrs. Robertson was welcomed back from her holiday spent in Sheldon, United States. She was presented with a birthday gift.

The ways and means committee will provide the entertainment at the next meeting.

First Chemainus Brownie pack had their annual picnic July 2 at Garden's Beach, where a happy day was spent. They had lunch and supper on the beach and played games in the community hall grounds. Mrs. John Humbird's annual cup for the best all-round Brownie was won by Bertha Underwood, and the yearly cup was won by Shirley Johnson.

Those in charge were Brown Owl Miss G. Fraser, Tawny Owl Miss Gladys Cook and Miss Kathleen Porter.

Dominion Day was observed in Chemainus with the usual parade at 10 o'clock, starting from the War Memorial and ending at the Chemainus Superior School grounds. Those in charge of the events were: President, W. M. Alister; vice-president, W. Dabinette; secretary, W. Wyllie; parade, C. McInnes; sports, A. E. Beasley; dance, J. Webster.

Parade judges were Mrs. J. Sandland, Miss Britta Transfield, T. Collins and W. M. Casswell.

LANGFORD

Mrs. E. C. Matson of Bonale, Leigh Road, entertained a number of friends on Friday evening on the occasion of her daughter Doris's birthday. Music, singing and dancing was enjoyed. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. N. Bertucci, Mrs. E. C. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. T. Norman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison, Miss D. Yates, Miss A. Carlow, Miss D. Harrison, Messrs. H. Norman and P. Bath.

The annual school meeting will be held in the schoolhouse on Saturday, July 11, at 7.30 o'clock. Among the business transacted will be the election of a director and auditor. Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Swan are spending a vacation at bungalow on Leigh Point, Langford Lake.

(From The Times Files)

A women's institute has been organized at Royal Oak and has been granted a certificate of incorporation by the department of agriculture.

At the meeting of the provincial executive yesterday afternoon it was decided that tenders for the erection of the new central prison at Burnaby were all too high. About twelve bids have been received ranging from $300,000 to $480,000. The present plans will be altered and new tenders will be invited. The government's estimate of the cost of the new building was $250,000.

Recent Weddings

WARRNER-DAVIS
An interesting wedding was solemnized yesterday evening at 8:30 o'clock in St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, when Rev. J. S. A. Bastin united in marriage Joyce Evelyn, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Davis of Brentwood, and Mr. William Henry Warner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warner, 928 Chalmers Avenue. Mrs. J. S. A. Bastin was at the organ and played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a charming picture in her wedding gown of white satin, with lace yoke, trimmed at the neck with white guirlande. The sleeves were full to the elbows ending in tight cuffs tapering over the wrists. Her embroidered veil was worn coronet fashion with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, carnations and sweet peas.

The bride's sister, Miss Margaret Davis, was the only bridesmaid, in a floor-length frock of shell pink net with cape sleeves, and trimmed at the neck and waist with white cornflowers. She wore a white turban with a band of white gardenias and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Mr. James Greenhalgh was best man and the ushers were Mr. James Davis and Mr. James Watt.

RECEPTION IN HALL
Following the service a largely-attended reception was held at the West Saanich W.I. hall, the bride and groom receiving the guests under a floral arch and wedding bell. Mrs. Davis, wearing a black crepe dress with white hat, and Mrs. Warner in a brown flat crepe ensemble, received the guests. Both wore corsage bouquets of sweet peas.

The supper table was arranged with pink and white sweet peas and lighted with tall pink tapers in silver scones. The three-tier wedding cake occupying the place of honor. Mrs. W. Watt, Mrs. Austin Gable and Mrs. L. Hafer presided at the tea urns. Mr. J. E. Sladen proposed the toast to the bride. During the evening Mr. George Carr's orchestra entertained the guests with dance music.

The bride and groom left later on a motor tour, to be spent at up-land points and later in Vancouver. The bride traveled in a royal blue swag suit, with white hat and matching accessories. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Warner will make their home in Victoria.

FAREY-HULFORD
A pretty wedding took place at 8 o'clock yesterday evening in the First United Church, when Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., united in marriage Evelyn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hulford, Glanford Avenue, and Mr. George W. Farey, third son of Mr. and Mrs. George Farey, George Road. Mrs. Fred Marcom, Mrs. W. Griffin Overseas Nurses. — The overseas nurses of Victoria are requested to attend a general meeting at Britannia branch clubrooms, 715 View Street, Wednesday at 4 p.m. The charter of overseas nurses branch of the Canadian Legion will be presented.

Actress Devotes Life to Charity

Associated Press
Tarrytown, N.Y., July 7. — Elsie Janis, actress and "idol of the army" during the Great War, has announced her intention of giving up all her "worldly possessions" and devoting her life to charity.

In a letter to the editor of The Tarrytown News, the forty-seven-year-old heroine of many a stage triumph, said she plans to auction off her house and all her "so-called important" souvenirs and valuable knickknacks at the end of the summer and spend all her time entertaining veterans in government hospitals. Proceeds of the auction will go to charity.

"I am giving up everything I have except the talent, personality, pep, or whatever it was that put me in the money as little Elsie, and kept me there for thirty years," the letter said.

EXPENSIVE HAIR
Paris. — Mile. Leroy, twenty-three-year-old lyric writer for Tino-Rossie, tenor, had dark hair until she decided to turn blonde. She went to a hairdresser for the dyeing, and the next day was bald. In court she was awarded $7,000.

Miss Helen Frame and Miss Cynthia Laraway of Boston, Mass., who have been attending the Gamma Phi Beta convention in Victoria, are now visiting the former's aunt, Mrs. Crowe and Miss M. E. Frame, 1090 West Twelfth, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Machin Jr., with Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stubbs and Mr. Charles Stubbs Jr. of Portland, Ore., are in Victoria on their annual visit, and are guests of Mrs. Stubbs's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall of Roseberry Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer of Seattle and Mr. Lowell P. Mickelthwait of Victoria, who spent the week-end in Victoria as the guests of Mrs. J. E. Semmes of "Robinswood," the up-lands, have returned home and were accompanied by Miss Alice Semmes, who will spend a few days in the Sound City as the guest of Mrs. Robert Brinkley.

Mrs. Margaret Lewis of Calgary has been attending the conference of the Business and Professional Women's Club in Edmonton this week-end, and is the guest of Mrs. Norman Lewis. She will leave later in the week for Victoria, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Margaret Lewis, and will spend the balance of the summer here.

Miss Edith Franks of the nurses' registry, Fairfield Road, will leave Victoria on July 11 for the Vimy Pilgrimage. Miss Franks, who saw service overseas during the Great War, will join Miss Meta Hodge, who left some time ago for England, and with her will represent the Vancouver Island branch of the Overseas Nurses' Association at the unveiling of the Vimy memorial. Miss Franks will sail on the liner Montcalm from Montreal.

The lady members of the Provincial Recreation Club were entertained recently at the home of Mrs. Langford, Fairfield Road. A very pleasant time was spent in the garden, and much interest was shown in the many varieties of roses, which are at their best just now. Tea was served on the lawn by Miss V. Paterson, Miss M. Local Girls Will Make Debut

Will Be Presented To King at London Reception

Canadian Press Cable
London, July 7.—Eleven Canadians will be presented at the afternoon reception to be given by the King at Buckingham Palace on July 21 and July 22.

They are as follows: Mrs. Reginald and Miss Daphne Arrell of Vancouver; Miss Rose Anne Bullen and Miss Marjorie Judd of Victoria; Miss Dorothea and Miss Helen Campbell of Toronto; Mrs. Guy Simonds and Miss Ruth Taylor of Kingston, Ont.; Miss Maxine Atkinson of Regina, Sask.; Karl "McGilligan" of Camp Borden, Ont., and Miss Jocelyn Plummer of York Hills, Ont.

These two afternoon receptions take the place of the royal courts cancelled on account of the death of King George. They are intended as an opportunity for women to be presented to the King who would ordinarily have been presented at the courts.

Women will be able to wear colored gowns, as the period of full court mourning ends July 30. It is understood that the debutantes will pass before the King making their bows, as at the court.

The King, with Queen Mary and other members of the family in a royal circle around him, probably will occupy a gilt armchair under the Delhi Durbar canopy of scarlet and gold, supported by four posts of solid silver, at the end of the main lawn of the palace.

Miss Bullen is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bullen of Victoria and has been residing in England and on the continent for the last few years. Miss Judd is the daughter of Mr. A. G. Judd of Linden Avenue.

Men, Too, Worry About Figures

Seattle, July 7.—Men worry about their figures fully as much if not more than women, menu control experts revealed here today.

The Misses Esther Latzke and Virginia Porter, Chicago delegates to the American Home Economics' Association convention, took time out to expose the "forgotten man" in the realm of dietetics.

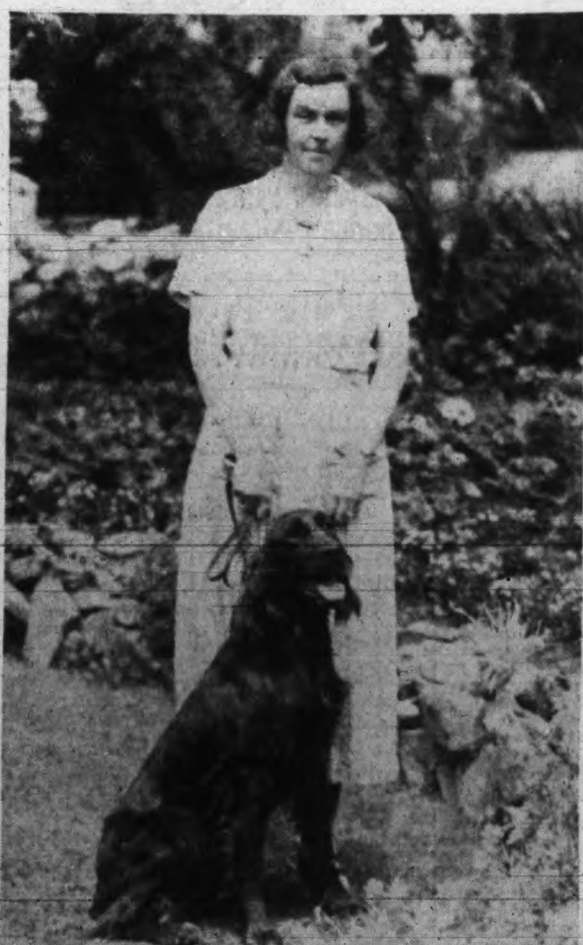

"Don't blame all the dieting on women," they chorused.

"Just as many men—if not more—come to use of diets that will reduce their waistlines," said Miss Latzke. "The majority are men in their 'middle forties' who realize they may be losing a little of their boyish figures."

The West Coast influence has done a lot to curb dieting among men, Miss Abby Marlatt, director of the University of Wisconsin home economics department, said. "But the day of 'dangerous dieting' isn't over yet."

"Some of them still insist on ruining their health with sophisticated Hollywood diets," she said.

The affair will open at 3 o'clock, and among the many attractions will be clock golf under the direction of Capt. H. Seymour-Biggs and a demonstration of wizardry by Frank Merryfield.

Is It Hot Enough For You?

YOU'LL hear this old banality so often this summer it will make you "hot" because it will remind you of the distress you suffer, the "all-in" feeling that results from heat when the body is not fed properly.

Most people eat foods that build a blood condition that lets them down on hot days and cold days, they stand neither heat nor cold well.

These people, however, give no thought to their foods other than that they like or dislike this or that item. No one needs to be "all in" on the hottest day. It needs only building a blood stream with a proper mineral reserve to keep the blood vital and normally fluid. Such blood will flow rapidly from the body's hot interior, relax the skin, dilate and engorge its capillaries, open its glands, etc., and thus eliminate the body's heat into the environment. One is thus enabled to be constantly on one's toes physically and mentally on the hottest days. Foods that do this are vegetables, preferably those grown above the ground, fruits, preferably raw, milk, Roman Meal, Bekus-Puddy or Lishus, Kofy-Sub, almonds and Brazil nuts. If four-fifths of the food intake is chosen from these foods, and dead starches, sugars and sweets eliminated, you can go through the hottest days without weakness or distress. Do not forget this tip. It will add to your comfort on hot days. Write for free booklet "How

Orphans Doing Well at School

The ladies' committee of the Protestant Orphans' Home met yesterday, with Mrs. F. V. Longstaff, the president, in the chair and the following members present: Mesdames Shepherd, Sherwood, Calvert, Dillabough, Coutts, Elliott, Humphries, McKewen, E. M. Brown, Fraser, Heddie and Simpson and the Misses Murray and Newbury.

Good progress was made by the children this year with their school work, six being recommended for entrance to high school, also two high school pupils recommended. Twenty-five of the children attended the Sunday school rally at Beacon Hill, transportation for which was provided by Mr. R. Hall. The Oaklands Gospel Hall Sunday school also entertained the children at their picnic, July 1, giving them a delightful time.

The following donations were gratefully received: Mrs. McCaw, clothing; Junior Red Cross, chocolate; Miss D. Palla, large scrub book; Mr. H. A. Brown, books; "Dr." Charlie, wieners, buns and onions; A Friend, vegetables; J. Drever, biscuits; Miss Gilliland, clothing; Belmont Sunday school, sandwiches and cake; Fawcett's Market, vegetables; A Friend, clothing; Reformed Church, cash donation; Mrs. Longstaff, girls' new dress; Mrs. Taylor, oranges and candy; Sunny Helpers, Craigflower School, cash and books; Mrs. Grimson, clothing; Mrs. Ketcheson, clothing; A Friend, vegetables; Grace Baxter, cherries; Mr. Martin, peas; Oakland Sunday school, sandwiches and bread; A Friend, cash; professional services of Dr. Gibson and Dr. Bryant; daily papers, Times and Colonist.

Would your pay cheques stop if you died?

THIS POLICY SAYS — NO!

IMPERIAL SALARY CONTINUANCE PLAN

WOULDN'T you like to have your pay cheques sent to your family for a full 12 months in case of your death? Think what a wonderful help that would be to your dependents during the time they must make one of life's most difficult re-adjustments!

You know how completely your family depends upon your regular salary cheques. Imagine the financial jolt they would get if that income were suddenly to stop—forever! Even if you have other insurance, how much income would it provide at the low interest rate money now earns?

For as little as 10c a day—for each $100 of your monthly salary—your full regular salary will be continued for a year after your death. By permitting a gradual change instead of a sudden scaling down of expenses, this policy helps to avoid the financial worries of the first terrible year after the death of the breadwinner.

If you have no other assurance, an Imperial Salary Continuance policy offers the first, simplest and most essential provision to make.

Nurses Entertained At Tea

Delegates From Convention Welcomed Here

Graduate nurses from all parts of Canada, who have been attending the national convention of the Canadian Graduate Nurses' Association in Vancouver, were the guests of the Victoria branch at tea yesterday afternoon at the Beach Hotel.

The arrangements were in the hands of Miss J. Bothwell, Miss L. Mitchell, Miss W. Cook, Miss E. J. Herbert, Miss E. Toyne and Miss E. Roster. Delphiniums and roses were arranged in the spacious lounge where tea was served. About sixty were present, the visiting nurses including: Miss Gibb of Stratford, Ont.; Miss Snyder, also of Ontario; Miss E. Ford, Lethbridge; Miss Naomi Grey, Miss H. Heston and Miss Dickie of Winnipeg; Miss Scheifele of Hamilton, Ont.; Mrs. Dawson, Vancouver; Miss Burrell and Miss M. McLaughlin; London, Ont.; Miss A. Hubbell, Niagara Falls; Miss M. Turner, Keapuskasing; Miss Edith Amas, Saskatoon; Miss H. Heston, Miss M. Murray, Miss Ferguson, Miss Vizard and Miss Rogers, Ottawa; Miss H. Houston, Ninette, Man.; Miss E. G. Allan, Ladysmith; Miss Campbell, Guelph; Miss Montgomery, Prince Albert, Sask.; and Mrs. Burnett, Toronto. Two United States nurses, Miss Glover and Miss Waters, also joined the party.

The visiting delegates, who arrived on Sunday from the mainland city, were entertained informally at tea at the Jubilee Nurses Home on Sunday afternoon, and yesterday were taken by their hostesses for a drive through the peninsula to the Butchart Gardens before the tea at the Beach Hotel.

Enoch Arden Case Heard in Montreal

Montreal, July 7. — A twentieth century Enoch Arden story with a new ending was recounted in a Montreal court yesterday.

Joseph Eugene Mongeau came back after twelve years away from his wife to find her married to another, and the mother of a three-year-old daughter. And his return brought a series of incidents that finally led to yesterday's appeal, by Mrs. Russell Baker for permission to apply for annulment of the marriage she contracted in her first husband's absence.

The permission was granted by Mr. Justice H. A. Fortier after Mrs. Baker had related the story from 1918 on. That year she married Mongeau. In 1920 she left him because of alleged ill-treatment. Then he disappeared. Certain he was dead, she married Baker, a taxman, in 1932. A daughter, Norah, was born. Then, in 1935, Mongeau turned up. Immediately, the wife said, Baker became sullen and soon put her and the girl out of the house.

Consider Texture When You Select Summer Cosmetics

By ALICIA HART

The woman who has made it her business to know what various beauty preparations should look like and how they should feel on her skin is less likely to buy the wrong items than one who never has bothered to find out.

Before you start to replenish your cosmetic cabinet with a summer supply of complexion aids, make a list of what you need. Then, if it includes things you never have used before, write opposite each new-to-you item the characteristics it must have.

Cleansing cream ought to be a light consistency. It should melt the moment you get it on your skin. Some tissue creams are thick and heavy, some are light like cleansing varieties. For summer, especially if you are one who leaves nourishing cream on all night, the lighter types probably will be more comfortable. Rouge does not necessarily have to be light and fluffy like whipped cream. However, if it is, you will have less trouble applying it.

The kind of powder you need depends 100 per cent on the type of skin you have. If oily, you need a thin, light-textured powder. If dry, a heavier one.

Brush, one to take the place of it, should contain flexible bristles, spaced far apart. Cleansing tissues

A fresh wind of clean cotton, says Olivia de Havilland, is the best possible puff for applying cosmetics.

Ex-Dancer Is Busy Wife Of Peer

Lady Chas. Cavendish Enjoys Life At Lismore Castle

London (By Special Correspondence).—Ascot, Newmarket and other social functions—Mayfair, with its charity dances and social exactitudes—night clubs, bridge and the wireless, hold no attractions for Lady Chas. Cavendish.

The Lady Chas. Cavendish, as she now is, enjoys a full day at her lovely home, Lismore Castle, in Ireland, at housekeeping, reading, knitting, salmon fishing, going for long walks and practicing her dancing for at least an hour daily.

Charles Graves, writing in The Daily Sketch, after a visit to Lismore, says she finds life so full that she has no time to be bored. She lives in a real castle. The Chateau at Ambolles, on the Loire, where French kings lived, Mr. Graves considers, alone bears any resemblance to it. There are 4,000 acres to get lost in, equally divided into farmland, mountainside and woodland.

Daughter-in-law of the Duke of Devonshire, the former stage idol of London and New York, now has the run and the running of this twelfth-century castle and estate, as the most popular Lady of Lismore that has been known there in nine centuries. The estate has more rooms than can be counted. There are nine indoor servants and seventy outdoor servants—rangers, bailiffs, fishermen, gardeners, farm hands—and the grounds are kept incomparably beautiful with the pick of English and American flowers and shrubs.

LOVES FRED'S LATEST FILMS

Here is a typical day in Lady Chas. Cavendish's life. She rises at 9.30 o'clock and starts the morning by giving the day's orders to the cook, visiting the flower gardens and arranging the floral and other decorations in the rooms of the castle where needed.

The remainder of the morning is spent in dealing with her vast correspondence, finishing up with a visit to her black and white goat, Gwendolyn, who has to be fed with a bottle.

She usually lunches alone with her husband and then goes out for a long walk with her Dachshund, Tilly, and Moscow ("a very wellbred dog of an unknown breed"). Unlike most Americans, she really loves walking and her nominal five miles a day may stretch to ten.

After that there is her dancing to practice. She sometimes plays the piano, too. For exercise she skips and often rides (though she is not too fond of that). The most famous salmon river in Ireland, the Blackwater, runs through the estate, and she is a keen fisher.

SHOCK IS HARMFUL

Small children should be allowed to play near the water until they learn to like it. Sand toys, a swimming suit and permission to play down near the edge where waves may dash over them with a sprinkle of refreshing drops, or casually douse feet and legs, gives the child delight and a sensation of safety.

It is a mistake to subject small children to the shock of submersion in very cold water. Because of their small body surface it takes longer for them to react by warmth to the sudden chilling. If the child's skin stays cold and blue and he shivers for long after he has been out of the water, it is plain enough that he has been harmed rather than helped by his plunge.

WHAT TO DO

Runabouts may enjoy waterwings and other rubber toys which keep them afloat. But always these should be attached to them securely so that a sudden loss won't leave them helpless.

Parents may feel themselves in the right when they terrify the child of water. Instead they should make him recognize that it is nothing but fun until it's dangerous have been conquered. Until the child can swim well enough to handle himself in all emergencies, he should stay well

Cool and delicious!

"SALADA" ICED TEA

Lady Chas. has now learnt the intricacies of salmon fishing.

She refuses to play bridge and listens only to the wireless for the news bulletins. A little knitting, a quiet dinner and bed by about 10.30 o'clock finishes the day, though she usually reads before going to sleep. Again unlike many Americans, she reads a great deal.

The nearest cinema is seventeen miles away. But the big event is the coming to it of one of her brother, Fred's films, "Top Hat"—it is present on the way and the whole staff is being taken to see it.

I should not be surprised if the success of her brother on the screen will not one day tempt her likewise to enhance the fame which both she and Fred gained on the stage.

LET CHILD LEARN TO LIKE WATER GAMES—BUT DON'T RUSH HIM

Many a youngster gets his first gulp of real adventure when he is taken for the first time to a lake or an ocean for his holiday. The way in which parents manage these first ventures into an unknown element may be responsible for the child's increasing enjoyment of his everlasting fear of it.

There are adults—especially male ones—who seem to delight in throwing a helpless, small child in the water and watching his frenzied terror and effort to right his way out. "Toughen 'em," is the cruel comment, and quite often it ruins forever their delight in water sports.

HOUSE OF SHADOWS

by Ida R. Gleason

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CLARE FORDICK sets out to drive to the lonely mountain home left her by her eccentric uncle, LYMAN FORDICK. Claire is trying to decide whether to marry NICK BAUM, to whom she owes money. She also hopes to find a valuable and mysterious jewel owned by her uncle and believed to be hidden in the house.

Her car is wrecked by a log across the road. PAT MAGAN, an old friend, and BOB STEELE, young engineer, arrive on the scene and take Claire to the mountain house where EB SPRATT and his sister, SUSIE, are the caretakers.

DAN DALLAS, the hired man, reports that the watchdog has been shot. Claire goes to her room for the night. She sees a curious arrow carved on the wall pointing to the cupola. Lamps in hand, Claire goes to the cupola. Suddenly and noiselessly, the lamp is shattered.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV

Claire had been too excited to notice that her hand was hurt by the broken glass, but now she was conscious of a throbbing pain. Pat tried to stop the bleeding with his handkerchief and Susie sent EB for water and bandages.

"This Dan Dallas," Bob said, "Does he sleep on the premises?"

Susie jerked around. "Yes, in the little cabin down near the tool house," she answered.

"Hold your tongue, Susie," ordered EB, who had come back in time to hear the conversation. He turned to Steele. "Say, you ain't figurin' Dan had anything to do with this, are you?"

"We don't know where this shooting is coming from nor who's doing it, so naturally I suspect anyone," answered Bob coldly.

Pat arose. "The three of us had better give the place the once-over right now."

For an hour the lights from the men's lanterns flickered about the grounds as a careful search was made. But not a trace of anything or anyone could be found. Down at the cabin, Dan had been awakened and questioned, but said he had seen nothing that would indicate a hostile prowler.

"I looked around the place after the dog was killed," he told them, "but I couldn't find anyone."

"And you didn't hear anything later?" asked Bob.

"None," Dan answered. Pat meantime had walked over to a corner of the cabin and picked up a gun that was leaning against the wall. He opened this casually, then pointed at the magazine.

"The shell is empty, Dallas. Looks like it had been fired recently."

"The man tucked and looked coolly at his questioner. 'I shot one bullet at a coyote yesterday,' he said.

"Well, come along out with us now. We're going to look over the place," EB ordered.

Daylight was breaking when the search finally ended without result. The men tramped back into the house.

Claire was telling Susie again about the mark on the wall behind the bed. Dan listened with an expression of interest in his eyes. "Didn't you ever run across that mark when you were cleaning the room, Susie?" he asked suddenly.

"Sure," she cast a quick glance at him. "But how should I know it meant anything?"

Pat, who had dropped into a chair, now sprang to his feet. "Come on, Bob. It's light enough now to go up to the cupola and give it the once-over."

"And you and I had better get breakfast started, Susie," Claire suggested. "We all need something to eat after such a night."

"Call us when it's ready," said EB, mentioning Dan to come with him. "We'll be down at the tool house."

The two young men went upstairs to the cupola where Claire's lamp had been shot to pieces. Splinters of glass still covered the floor. The bullet that caused the disorder was embedded in the wall.

"Evidently came from the direction of that slope over there," Bob eyed the densely wooded mountain that rose directly opposite the House of Long Shadows.

"Did you notice Dan's gun?" asked Pat. "Could he do the trick?"

"I think so. We'll dig the bullet out and see if it fits," Bob opened his pocket knife as he spoke. "Since no one seems to have heard the shot, probably it was the same gun with the same silencer that got the dog."

Pat glanced at his friend but made no comment. In a few minutes the bullet lay in his hand. Both examined it and Bob put it in his pocket.

Fifteen minutes' intensive search of the cupola revealed nothing more. The arrow mark really pointed to the staircase to the lookout, any further signs on the weather-beaten walls had been erased by the elements. At the open door of the bedroom that had belonged to Lyman Fordick, Pat paused. The big four-poster bed was still pulled out from the wall as Claire had left it, so they could see the small mark on the wall.

"It points toward the stairs all right," said Pat. "Nothing else on that side of the room but that case for books."

He walked across and examined the volumes on the shelves. The old boy seems to have gone in for variety—mining, poetry, travel, finance and politics.

"Anything on jewels?" asked Bob.

"None, unless you count that one, 'Jewels of Yore.' Come on, I'm starved," Pat started for the door.

Breakfast was ready when they came downstairs. Susie insisted that they sit right down and went to call EB and Dan Dallas.

"It was a bullet, then, that broke the lamp?" Claire asked.

For answer Bob held out the piece of lead. "Probably fired from that slope opposite."

The girl's face turned white. "Then—then someone did try to kill me!" Susie and Dan coming back cut short the conversation.

"Where's EB?" asked Pat.

"Dan said he went back to look the tool house," Susie explained, taking her place at the table. "He'll be along directly."

"Ever Dan that gun of yours to anyone, Dan?" asked Pat.

"EB used it sometimes," answered the man, looking levelly at his questioner. "Why?"

"I just wondered."

"Did he ever use a silencer on it, Dallas?" asked Bob Steele.

"Not that I know of," Dallas told him.

"A silencer?" Susie looked questioning from one to the other.

"Yes, a gadget to cut out the sound of the shot, Miss Spratt."

Susie dropped a knife to the floor with a clatter. "Mr. Pat, was that why we didn't hear anything when Trigger was shot, and when Claire was up in the cupola?"

"We think so," Miss Spratt.

"Long love us!" gasped the woman. "Then they could creep up on us and murder us in our beds and nobody'd be the wiser!"

"Don't get panicky, Susie," Claire soothed her. "Nothing can hurt us in the house here."

"I ain't sure," answered Susie. "There's been queer goings on round here ever since you came up."

"What do you mean?" Pat edged forward eagerly.

"Oh, Susie just gets a case of nerves now and then," interrupted Dan. "Pat went on quizzing Susie."

"You mean you heard of saw something you didn't understand?"

"Not really. Then she lowered her voice. 'I saw it. Three times I've heard a soft-like noise in the night. Once it was so loud I routed EB out to listen, but it stopped as soon as we struck a light.'"

"Likely a pack rat," suggested Dan. "Pack rats don't chip debris off stone foundations," answered Susie, embedded in the wall.

"You found stones chipped, Miss Spratt?" asked Bob.

trip, or under other special circumstances. They should not be used continuously, however, because they result in less frequent changing of the diapers and subsequent chafing of the skin. Sometimes they restrict the legs so tightly that circulation of the blood is disturbed.

Tests have been made on babies who wore diapers with a waterproof covering as contrasted with babies who wore diapers without such protection. Six babies of each type were compared.

At the end of a week, the babies without the covering had used approximately 400 more pieces of laundry than did those with the coverings. Moreover, extra time was required by nurses in changing the entire bed.

The children with the waterproof coverings seemed to have no more irritation than those without the coverings. It was the opinion of those who made the test that the irritation came from the excretions, and not from the fact that they were held rather longer in contact with the skin.

As I have said previously, the most common mistake is too much clothing. Overclothed children are fretful and nervous. In the very hottest weather it may be advisable to remove all clothing except the diaper. Modern manufacturers of infants' garments now prepare sunsuits which consist simply of a covering for the lower portion of the body, with two straps to go over the shoulders. On some sunsuits there is mesh material which permits ready passage of the sun's rays.

Prompt acceptance of this type of clothing, material is an indication of its worth.

"Yep. The corner of the house out by the root cellar. The wind blew something off the clothesline and when I went over there to get it, I saw the fresh marks. And they were tellin' me down at the village that the white miner had been seen again."

"The white miner?" asked Claire.

"Sure—the white miner. That's what we all called him. Probably 'cause we never knew his real name, and he had the freshest, whitest skin ever you see. He was from over near Tin Cup way, Claire. A reminiscent light gleamed in Susie's eyes. 'It happened durin' the mining boom, while your Uncle Lyman was here, and I was keepin' house for him. A likely youngster—the white miner. Used to come down to the town for grub and things.'"

"What happened to him?" Pat asked.

"Oh, he took up with a fellow who come from out California way. They went up to the kid's claim and worked it all summer. One ran pretty good, too. I used to see quite a lot of them both when they come down for the town dances. Then one night they'd both been drinking a lot and had a fight."

"Over you, perhaps, Miss Spratt?" asked Pat, his eyes twinkling. "I'll bet you were by way of being a town belle when you were young."

Susie shot him a coquettish glance. "Go on with you, Mr. Pat. Then she sobered. 'I ain't saying' what was the cause of the row. Anyway they drifted long toward morning and we never saw the white miner again. And the other one only once more when he went through town on his way back to California, so he said. A year or two after someone found a man's skeleton under the trees in their cabin. They couldn't prove it was the kid, though you can't make no one 'round here believe it wasn't his. Only the folks do say when something's goin' to happen, the white miner is seen again trudging along the mountain trails."

"And someone's met up with him lately?" asked Bob Steele.

Susie nodded solemnly. "George Banes, the butcher down in the village, said he seen him plain over near the big dump on Squaw Mountain the other night."

"Dan abruptly pushed back his chair. 'Where's that?' asked Pat.

"Opposite the house here," Claire told him. She added slowly, "The mountain that fired the gun at me."

"This is getting good—white miner—mysterious shootings. Come on, let's go out and look at these chippings where someone's been getting busy around the cupola. Go if we can't unearth another arrow sign."

"The sun was beginning to reddish the sky as they went outside. 'Wonder where EB is?' asked Bob. 'I'll go down to the tool house and get some shovels from him. Dan said he was there, didn't he?'"

Pat nodded and walked on around the cupola. Dan was already there, staring down at the ground. "Someone's already started digging here," he pointed to a small hole close by the cupola wall.

"He dropped to his knees and examined the place closely. 'That's been done recently,' he announced. He made a careful circuit of the surrounding grass and bushes. 'Here comes Bob. Let's see what he makes of this.'"

But Bob was looking at the cap held in his hand. "Isn't this EB's?" he asked Dan.

The man nodded.

"Well, I found it down near the tool house, but EB wasn't there. Did he come up here?"

"No," began Pat and then stopped. "What the—?"

"Yes," said Bob slowly. "There are fresh blood stains on it. Blood—but where is EB?"

All members and friends are asked to meet at the Cadboro Bay street car terminus at 8 o'clock, or catch the 8.41 p.m. car from town.

While benefic aspects dominate today, according to astrology, there are also active adverse influences. The planetary government makes caution imperative.

Women are supposed to be exceedingly fortunate while this configuration prevails. The stars encourage domestic influences today. Marriages under this rule of the planets should be safeguarded against divorce which may be readily brought about.

This is a fortunate day under which to deal with bankers and brokers, but again warning is given that speculation may be most disastrous. The stars advise to encourage all forms of effort to obtain easy money.

This is not an auspicious date for applying for positions of any sort. Employers are likely to be affected by weather conditions.

Persons whose birthday it is to have the augury of a year of much work that brings substantial returns. Women should be especially fortunate.

Children born on this day probably will be keen and practical in their ideas. Subjects of this sign usually have constructive ideas and great energy.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. industrialist, was born on this day. Others who have celebrated it at a birthday include Dr. Samuel D. Cross, physician and surgeon, 1893; Joseph Chamberlain, British statesman, 1836; and Fitz-Greene Halleck, poet, 1780.

Victoria-Port Angeles Canoe Derby Will Be Held Labor Day

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

UNIVERSITY of Washington Huskies carried Pacific Northwest rowing to new heights Sunday, on the placid waters of Lake Carnegie, N.J., when they whipped the finest crews in the United States for the right to represent their country at the Olympic Games in Berlin next month. The Seattle boys repeated their brilliant victory in the inter-collegiate races at Poughkeepsie and for the second time came from behind to mark up their victory. The critics, who were of the opinion Coach Alvin Ulbricks's Huskies could not sprint, saw all their doubts answered Sunday when the Washington squad purposely followed the pace and then came on with a rush 400 metres from the finish to win going away.

Washington's unbeaten eight, all giants averaging six feet three, soared down the 2,000-metre course to set a new American record. New rowing observers are hailing Ulbricks's smooth-polished machine as one of the greatest of all time. A few weeks ago, on the Hudson River, the stalwarts from the Pacific Northwest won the United States four-mile championship by an amazing finish. Sunday they proved that a good crew can win at any distance. Washington's tactics in Sunday's race was a parallel to their strategy on the Hudson. "Keep the stroke down and then move them down in the finishing sprints," has been Ulbricks's rule.

In the intercollegiate championships, the Washington crew proved to be able to take it in the last mile, which was acquired by its predecessors who, for three consecutive trips, led at the three-mile mark only to lose to California. This year Washington made that last mile seem remarkably short and Sunday they again proved they could turn on the heat at the finish.

The death of Tom O'Rourke was just an incident to the Schmeling-Louis fight. Thirty years ago it would have been a newspaper-story sharing space with the bout, for a generation ago O'Rourke was the czar of the fight game in New York.

By a strange, perverse twist of fate, O'Rourke, who won his greatest fame handling and backing negro warriors and who always was in their corner, died of a heart attack in Max Schmeling's dressing-room after whispering words of advice to the white man an hour before the German cracked down upon Joe Louis.

O'Rourke, who was eighty-three, went as he would have gone had he been a choice—surrounded by the retinue of a big fight.

Nor would have O'Rourke, the leading handler of negro fighters—Joe Walcott—been disillusioned with so many others had he lived just an hour longer.

"Louis always feints twice with his left before jabbing," O'Rourke told Schmeling. "He holds his head too high when he comes in and his left glove too low. It leaves him set just right for you. Keep far away from him, make him feint and lead, and then send in a smashing right."

Tom O'Rourke, a keen student of the game, seldom was wrong, and the Schmeling-Louis engagement proved that age had not dimmed his eyesight or affected his judgment.

George, weighing 230, defeated Willie Davis, 275, Bristol, Va., two falls out of three. Davis took the first with a reverse body slam, lost the second on a foul for choking and went down on a series of slams for the third.

Cox, 230, out-boxed Chief Chivaki, 230, Roumania, two falls of three. He took the first with slams, lost the second on a press and kept Chivaki out of the ring while the referee counted him out for the third.

Davies Boys To Defend Honors In Stiff Test

Albie and Jumbo Will Be Among Field for Competition on September 7

Crews Coming From Mainland

Husky paddlers will compete in the annual Victoria to Port Angeles canoe derby on Labor Day, September 7. This was the announcement made today by Bill Findlay, secretary of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, who will sponsor the competition.

This year's race over the course that calls for approximately twenty-two and a half miles of paddling and is one of the stiffest tests ever conducted on the continent, is expected to attract a large entry. About seven teams have promised to come over from the Vancouver-Canoe Club, while another four or five local pairs will participate.

TIDES ARE GOOD

The tides for this year's race are ideal and the hardy canoeists are expected to have much better conditions to contend with than in the two previous events. Providing the weather man comes through with a good day the competitors should have no trouble finishing the grind.

Last year the race was held from Port Angeles to Victoria, with Albie and Jumbo Davies, well-known Victoria fighters, taking the honors. They finished in 4 hours 2 minutes, which was 2 hours and 18 minutes faster than the winner's time in the first race.

Only four crews started last year and they all finished. In second place were Johnny Albany and Jasper Charles, Indian boys. Bud Wagner and Harry Russell, Vancouver Canoe Club, were third and Gordon Henderson and Alf Webb fourth.

The Davies brothers will be entered again and are anxious to mark up two consecutive victories. Wagner and Russell have signified their intention of taking part again, while it is expected the Indians will be in the field.

The first race held from Victoria to Port Angeles saw only one canoe, paddled by the Alexander brothers, Dick and Scott, finish. This year Dick Alexander, who is now in Vancouver, will compete with another Vancouver paddler.

START IN MORNING

This year's race will get under way at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, with the start being made in the Inner Harbor.

The committee in charge of the race follows: George Beck, chairman; William Bellow, Ron Fairclough, Harold Herd, Les Osborne, Frank Partidge, Vernon Ridgway, Goldwyn Terry, Tommy Watkins and J. N. Findlay.

Horseshoe Pitching

Results of games in the Greater Victoria Horseshoe Pitching Association League follow:
Geo. Ledingham and H. Dundas won from A. D. McLeod and H. Hewitt.
L. Cochran and J. Slater lost to H. Kirkham and W. A. Evans.
J. Keating and H. A. Bates won from R. McKenzie and D. McMillan.
G. G. Wale and A. Manson lost to C. Groth and W. J. Campbell.
W. J. Pennie and A. N. Murray won from McMillan and F. Kroger.
H. H. Pearce and L. Dash lost to H. Gardner and A. Pihlstrom.
Harold Kirkham, youngest player on the pitch, led the field in rings with 30 perfect throws, followed by J. Keating with 26, L. Cochran 25 and Geo. Ledingham and Alex. McMillan 21. All games were closely contested and marked improvement is noticeable in nearly all of the players.

After the games tomorrow W. J. Bennie will present the Bennie and Taylor Cup to L. Cochran and R. McKenzie, winners of the June series of games.

HUSKIES GET GAMES MONEY

Seattle Citizens Subscribe $4,000 to Complete Funds for Olympic Trip

New York, July 7.—The Olympic financial market turned bullish today as the drive for funds, inspired by Sunday's announcement that $150,000 more was needed to send a full United States team to Berlin, got under way.

Meanwhile a difference of opinion as to the cause of the shortage turned up as Jeremiah T. Mahoney, former A.A.U. president and leader of the Olympic "boycott" movement, said it was caused by the strong sentiment in the United States against participating in the games in Nazi Germany and Gustavus T. Kirby, treasurer of the American Olympic committee, promptly denied the statement.

"The shortage of the Olympic funds shows very clearly that the American public will not support any team that is going to take part in any such Nazi propaganda as these games are," said Mahoney.

"We have approximately the same number of contributors to the Olympic fund as we have always had in the past. The big difference is that they are not giving as much. Men who used to hand over $500 now have come through with only $50," answered Kirby.

$47,000 TRACK GATE

Meanwhile there were indications of a sellout, bringing in $47,000, for the final men's track and field tryouts at the Randall Island stadium here Saturday and Sunday and news of various other sizeable contributions was received.

The University of Washington crew, which won the Olympic berth Sunday, received word by telephone from Seattle that the $4,000 needed to finance its trip had been subscribed by Seattle citizens.

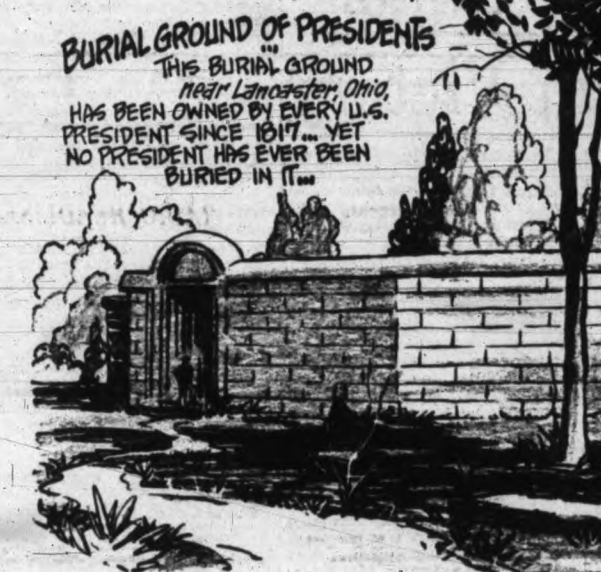

Bill Bingham, track committee chairman, announced a prominent athletic club had promised $3,000 for the track and field team, but he would not name the club for fear some other committee chairman might beat him to the money. Word also was received of special funds being raised to care for the expenses of Glen Morris, Port Collins, Colo., decathlon winner, and Kathryn Kelly, South Carolina high jumper, who was named as an alternative when the women's track and field team was cut to four members.

Campbell, Canadian and United States singles sculls champion and a foremost Canadian Olympic prospect in the Berlin Games, sailed from Montreal Saturday "on borrowed money." He said the committee would not have sent him until July 17 when it would have been too late for him to get in condition.

But Mulqueen said "every nickel" of Campbell's expenses had been arranged for and the Toronto Donors' committee had rejected an invitation to sail with the Hamilton Leader light-oared crew which sailed from Montreal last Saturday. When he did leave it was without the knowledge of even his own club officials.

COMMITTEE MADE GRANT
Regarding a statement by finance department heads at Ottawa that it would look into the distribution of the Dominion's $10,000 grant to the Olympic committee, Mulqueen said the committee will "welcome at any time, at any place, a thorough investigation as to how the grant will be expended."

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

Presidents' Burial Ground... First decided to President Monroe and his successors, April 12, 1817, as a gift by Nathaniel Wilson, an early Ohio farmer, a one-acre burial grove, near Lancaster, Ohio, was enjoyed the unique distinction of being owned by every U.S. President since then.

Either to make certain of the legality of the original deed or else for some other new obscure purpose, a second deed was written by Wilson bequeathing the property to President Van Buren and his successors on August 12, 1838. This bequest reads in part:

"I give to and devise to Martin Van Buren as President of the United States and his successors in office forever, that certain lot of land known as my locust grove to be by him and his successors in office forever held in trust for the purpose herein described. The grove shall remain forever unoccupied and the trees thereon be used for the sole purpose of repairing my family bury-ground and I hereby direct it and enjoin on my son and executors that they keep the said grove in good condition, taking care to keep up the fences or enclosures and by removing the briars that may grow or accumulate thereon at least once during the month of August each year."

Wilson also provided that any President so desiring might be buried in the plot.

and one of the original Monroe deed is registered by the Fairfield county recorder each time a new President is elected, a new deed in the President-elect's name being forwarded to Washington. The present titleholder, of course, is President Roosevelt.

CANVAS CHAMP... Max Schmeling, in 1930, made unique ring history when he was fouled by Jack Sharkey and dropped to the canvas. He was awarded the title fight on the basis of this foul and thus became the only world's heavyweight champion to win the title while off his feet.

WYKOFF WILL TURN COACH... Wykoff, a member of the 1918 U.S. Olympic team, now manual training teacher at Carpinteria High School, will become the high school's head coach next autumn and thus end his amateur career. He is here now preparing for the final Olympic trials at the Randall Island stadium.

Though he is only twenty-seven years old now, Wykoff is practically forgotten in the parade of younger and faster stars. Modest and smiling, he does not seem to mind this.

"They pay off on what you can do right now, not what you could do, and the best I've done for 100 meters in a long time is 10.5," he said. The experts figure he'll have to do better than that even to get into the finals of Saturday's tryouts.

Wykoff's world record of 9.4 made in 1930 stands alone in the books, although Ohio State's great negro speedster, Jesse Owens, equalled that mark last year.

VACS VICTORS OVER JOKERS

Take Fixture 5 to 3 and Retain Chance for Softball Playoff Berth

A victory yesterday evening for the Victoria Athletic Club retained for them their chance to secure a play-off berth in the A section softball race. They defeated the Jokers at Victoria West Park, 5 to 3, in a postponed fixture, and in so doing advanced a notch closer to Brundson's Boys and Silent Glows, league leaders.

With the score tied 3 to 3 in the seventh inning, "Scotty" Robinson and Larry Kennedy hammered out a pair of three baggers, and these, coupled with errors, allowed two runs.

Jokers opened scoring in the first when they sent one runner home. The lead changed, however, when the Vacs came to bat in this inning and sent two men across the plate. Their lead increased to two runs in the next when they added another to their total.

The next three frames were scoreless. In the sixth the Jokers rallied and marked up a pair of markers, which deadlocked the teams 3 to 3. The Vacs then got the deciding runs in the seventh.

From the offerings of Archie McBride, Vacs collected eleven hits. This was five more than the Jokers secured from the slants of George Glendenning.

Score by innings:
Jokers..... 100002000—3
Vacs..... 01010200—5
Batteries—J. McBride and Evans; Glendenning and L. Kennedy.

In the only B section fixture played yesterday evening Painter's Bruins noted out the Tigers 6 to 5 at the Athletic Park.

Fifth inning saw the score knotted at 3 to 3. In the next inning the Tigers took over the lead when two men were sent the distance. The score was again knotted in the eighth when the fuelmen pushed across a pair of markers, and then came through in the last inning to add another to their total win.

The Bruins drove out fifteen safeties off Tommy Johnston, six more than from the twirling of L. Simpson.

Score by innings:
Bruins..... 000120021—6
Tigers..... 01010200—5
Batteries—L. Simpson and Berry; Johnston and Harris.

North Saanich Service Club won by default from Togo Cleaners.

RICHMOND IN EASY VICTORY... Intercity Box Lacrosse League Leaders Turn Back Homes 15 to 7

Vancouver, July 7.—Richmond Farmers outscored the cellar-dwelling Homes in every quarter yesterday evening for a 15 to 7 victory to increase their lead in the Intercity Box Lacrosse League to six clear points.

Capture Honors in Queen Mary, Southern Railway, Canada Shield, Kinnaird and B.S.A. Matches; Canadians Turn in Good Scores

Bisley Camp, Surrey, July 7.—Gunner H. Swire of the Navy won Her Majesty Queen Mary's prize, with 180 out of a possible 200, it was announced today, as the National Rifle Association's Bisley meet continued.

The only Canadian entered in the Queen Mary was Sgt. J. S. Douglas, Verdun, Que. Douglas scored 130. The Queen Mary was fired yesterday in four stages under service conditions. The first stage was at 600 yards, the second and third at 300, and the last at 600 and 1,000 yards. Douglas's score by stages was 40, 32, 31, 27.

In the Southern Railway Company Sgt. Major H. Rusk, Ottawa, and Major T. Spittal, Montreal, who scored 318, to top the Canadian entrants, each received prizes of £1.

Weather conditions were good today with no sun, a steady light and little wind on the ranges.

Many schoolboys are in camp, preparing for the Ashburn Challenge Shield shoot, scheduled for Thursday. It is open to teams of eight from schools with junior officers' training corps. The entry list for this award is not as heavy as last year, however.

The Small Arms School won the Canada Shield, given for teams of four marking the best showing in the firing for the Queen Mary, with 608.

Four tied with 34 1/2 of a possible 35 in the Kinnaird, making a shoot-off necessary. They were: Sgt. W. Hardy, Marines; Sgt. L. Sankey, Ordnance; Gunner H. Swire, Navy; and Corp. J. White, Rifle Brigade. The Kinnaird, fired with service rifles, calls for seven shots at 500 yards.

CANADIAN SCORES... Capt. W. Worsick, Winnipeg, a newcomer on the team made the best showing of the Canadians in the Kinnaird with 31. Other Canadian scores: Major T. Spittal, Montreal, 29; Company Sgt.-Major H. Rusk, Ottawa, 23; Capt. L. J. Silver, Ottawa, 27; Major R. S. Harrison, Toronto, 26; Guardsman D. S. Fraser, Ottawa, 25; Staff Quartermaster-Sgt. F. V. Shepherd, Stevenson Place, Ont., 21.

C.S.M. Rusk with 32 out of a possible 35 topped the Canadians in the B.S.A. calling for seven shots at 600 yards. Other scores by Canadians: Capt. Worsick and Lieut. R. Storrer, Toronto, 28; Capt. Silver, and Major Harrison, 26; Guardsman Fraser and Major Spittal, 25; Staff Q.M.S. Shepherd, 23.

BILL O'BRIEN TO PROMOTE FIGHTS... New York, July 7.—Bill O'Brien, who won himself a considerable amount of fame but not much money in promoting professional tennis matches, is about to launch a new venture.

On a site formerly used for tennis courts, O'Brien is constructing an arena, which will be known as "O'Brien Bowl" in Ozone Park, Queens, and plans to stage his first boxing show there sometime next week. Jimmy Johnston Jr., son of the Madison Square Garden boxing maestro, will arrange the program.

Newark, N.J., July 7.—Lou Ambers, outstanding contender for the world lightweight championship, easily defeated Joey Greb, New York, in the feature ten-round bout at Meadowbrook Field yesterday evening. Ambers weighed 138 and Greb 139 1/2.

Ambers, who is scheduled to meet Champion Tony Canzone for the lightweight title on July 30, won every round and scored a nine-point knockdown in the third round.

Who's Who
At Hotels

An unusual private party, whose four members came from three cities widely separated both in distance and character, registered at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Halford were from London, England; Mrs. J. J. Finch from Palisades Park, New Jersey, and Mrs. C. A. Briggs from Seattle.

With the bustle of the holiday week-end finished, the hotels of Victoria had today returned to a semblance of calm, allowing the staffs to clear up the mass of the derelict work left by the influx of United States visitors celebrating the July 4 vacation.

However, the lists of registrations yesterday afternoon and this morning were by no means small, and hotel men were confident that they were getting well into the run of the best summer season since 1929.

California still continues to arrive at the Empress Hotel in an unabated stream. Among the latest arrivals, Mrs. Freda Pahl and K. McClintock, Anna M. Stern, Mrs. V. J. V. Hamilton, Orel, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hamilton, Orel; Mrs. C. Moeller, the Misses B. and J. Moeller, and Miss E. S. Calder, Providence, Rhode Island; Mrs. H. Sundell, Omaha; Miss E. Moss, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Rose Loeb and daughter, Chicago; Anna M. Stern, Reno, and Mrs. and Mrs. Paul K. Buchanan, Hartford, Conn.

Other arrivals from the United States at the Empress Hotel include: Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Elliott, Denver; Dr. McCormack and his daughters, Kentucky; the Misses Freda Pahl and K. McClintock, Anna M. Stern, Mrs. V. J. V. Hamilton, Orel; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hamilton, Orel; Mrs. C. Moeller, the Misses B. and J. Moeller, and Miss E. S. Calder, Providence, Rhode Island; Mrs. H. Sundell, Omaha; Miss E. Moss, Salt Lake City; Mrs. Rose Loeb and daughter, Chicago; Anna M. Stern, Reno, and Mrs. and Mrs. Paul K. Buchanan, Hartford, Conn.

Arrivals from California at the Dominion Hotel are: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Carey, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Jones, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kennedy and family, Glendale; Mrs. A. E. Mahoney, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Sutherland, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Higgins, Los Angeles; and Miss Jean P. Crowe, Los Angeles.

Other United States visitors on the list at the Dominion today are: Mrs. A. Rylands, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. MacIntyre, Anacosta, Mont.; and the Misses Rita and H. Jain, Denver.

The usual full following the holiday rush did not last for long this year and the Statistia Hotel today reported a registration of more than 170.

Over July 4 week-end the hotel carried its capacity of 210 people. Almost 100 people had to be turned away because of insufficient accommodation.

New Barristers
Are Presented

Four successful candidates admitted to bar with ceremony today.

Four new barristers and solicitors were formally introduced to Mr. Justice Murphy by Lindley Crease, K.C., before the regular session of Supreme Court Chambers here today.

The men were approved yesterday by the members of the Law Society of British Columbia and appeared before Mr. Justice Murphy today. They were William Hopkins Quirk-Cameron, Vancouver; Lawrence Sherwood Hercher, Fernie; William Lyle Johnston, Chilliwack; and George Anderson, Tofino.

Mr. Crease presented the successful candidates and expressed the hope they would, in due time, qualify for the bench.

Jointly they took the oath and heard the charge delivered by Oswald Barton.

It would be up to them and their associates to determine whether or not society was to continue under the present British system of the rule of law. Mr. Justice Murphy said in his short address to the newly-admitted members. He thought the system the highest attained in history with its care for the rights of the individual.

It could only continue as long as those who practiced law maintained the respect of the public, he concluded.

MARKET NOTES
The Okanagan apricot crop is a complete failure this year, according to advices from wholesale row this morning.

The local market can expect no fruit from the interior and distributors have been forced to import from the United States.

The first shipment of half a carload of apricots arrived here this morning. Another shipment of a full carload is expected tomorrow. Prices will be lower than last year. The dump duty is not being applied for the present.

Due to the crop failure, the apricot season is not expected to last for long.

Large shipments of cantaloupes from Delano, California, are arriving here, and prices are said to be reasonable, the fruit being quoted at from seven to fifteen cents each according to size.

The local strawberry crop is over just a few crates are dribbling in to the distributing centres as compared with the steady stream of a week ago. Prices are slightly higher for the soft fruit. The season this year has been moderately long.

Raspberries are now at their peak and local produce is selling for two hells for 25 cents.

Green peas are reported to be plentiful now. Prices are the lowest of the season.

Prices for new potatoes have also dropped slightly.

For the first time in two years, Japanese onions have been imported. They are the cheapest onions on the Victoria market.

TAIT TRIAL CONTINUING

Crown Counsel Criticized As Hearing Proceeds in County Court

Spends trial of C. Harold Tait continued before Judge J. H. Handley today with further cross-examination giving testimony.

The accused has entered pleas of not guilty to charges of theft and breach of trust arising out of the recent Van Oudenol-Porter case.

O. H. Handley today told the stand of the witness, Charles Desford had raised, through a bank loan, the sum of $400, which he said, was to pay off a mortgage on the Sooke mill in which he and Desford were interested.

Questioning by Stuart Henderson, defence counsel, brought out the statement by Mr. Handley that he had paid the $400 for an interest in the mill through a proposed new company.

"The interest in the sawmill would not have been of any use unless the $400 was paid," Mr. Handley said in explanation of the purpose for which he thought the $400 was to be applied.

He further said the cheque had been made out to C. H. Tait at Mr. Desford's request.

Henry C. Hall, K.C., questioned Charles Desford, in an effort to establish the fact Mr. Tait had acted as solicitor for him.

CRITICIZES CROWN COUNSEL
As the case continued, Judge Elwell reprimanded crown counsel for putting leading questions.

"I think it very reprehensible," the judge said, adding a witness for the crown was in the box and that if the witness did not answer questions as crown counsel wished, it was too bad. Crown counsel, he said, was suggesting answers to the witness, which crown counsel of all people should not do.

"This is the first time my conduct in court has been called reprehensible," Mr. Hall replied.

The judge said he was sorry to have to make the criticism but would not retract it.

The questioning continued with Mr. Desford stating Mr. Tait was to secure $500 shares in the company. Dates on which Mr. Desford was supposed to have seen Mr. Tait were questioned by Mr. Henderson. Adjournment was ordered until 2.30 this afternoon.

Cancer accounted for seventy-two of the 547 deaths in British Columbia during May, it was shown in the monthly bulletin of the Vital Statistics Branch released today. Tuberculosis took the next heaviest toll with fifty-one, influenza ten, pneumonia six, typhoid fever three, whooping cough two, typhoid fever one, scarlet fever one, spinal meningitis two, motor accidents five. Twenty-five children under one year died.

At the conclusion of the business meeting all those present will adjourn to the Colwood Golf Club, where the annual tournament for the R. S. Day & Son Challenge Cup will take place. Last year this cup was won by J. R. Kingham.

Fisherman Falls In After Fish

Eric Elwell, Saanich Police-man, Gets Impromptu Ducking When the "Big One" Got Away

Constable Eric Elwell of the Saanich police has a real fish story, and tells of an impromptu dip he had in Brentwood Arm to verify it.

While vacationing at the popular fishing spot over the week-end Eric was out with Wilfred Greene of the municipal hall staff, trying to land a button fish.

He got the strike he had been waiting for when they were just off Bamerton. After playing it for several minutes he finally managed to get it along side the boat and was preparing to gaff it.

With a final lurch the fish broke the gut lead and got away. The jolt of the fish breaking the line sent Mr. Elwell off balance and two seconds later he followed the fish into the water.

Mr. Greene was unable to start the motor in the boat to get back to his partner, so Mr. Elwell went ashore rather than take a chance on upsetting the boat.

He claims the fish was at least a forty-five pounder, and he expects to catch it again Sunday to reap his vengeance.

Over 100 Marksmen At B. C. R. A. Meet

Fifty-eighth Annual B.C. Rifle Association Competition Gets Under Way at Heals; Garrison Team Captures Gellately Match

(By Staff Representative)
Heals Rifle Range, July 7.—With conditions ideal for shooting, the fifty-eighth annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association got under way here today. Entered in the competitions over 100 marksmen, including two teams of six from the Rocky Mountain Rangers.

Kamloops, fifty-five from Vancouver, thirty-three from Victoria, and thirty marksmen from Penticton and Wayne, Alberta. Two women are taking part, Mrs. Ego Bayment and Miss Gwen Spencer, both of Victoria.

As preliminary practice gave way to competition in earnest, old shots on the range said shooting conditions were ideal. A slight mirage in the first hour disappeared and a crisp, light wind behind the marksmen was regarded as only a minor handicap.

GARRISON WINS
In the Gellately match the Garrison Rifle Association team took the honors with a score of 187. The B.C. Rifle Association, Vancouver, was second with 158. The range was 500 yards.

The Woodward match, open to tyros and green shots, saw Sgt. G. H. Parquharson, Rocky Mountain Rangers, and A. J. Lyst and A. J. Gray, both of the Vancouver Rifle Association, tie for first place with scores of 34. A shoot-off will determine the victor.

Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, D.S.O., former commander of the Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver, and winner of the King's Prize at Biele, is taking part.

The Alberta marksman competing is Stephen Johnson, a member of Canadian Biele teams.

Among the old-timers taking part are: Sgt. G. S. Carr, F. R. Sargison, and Major Fred Richardson, Victoria, and G. L. Churchyard, Vancouver.

Major Roger Monteith is acting as range officer, assisted by Major S. Henson.

Before the firing of the Duff-Stuart match tomorrow a minute's silence will be observed in honor of the late Brigadier-General J. Duff-Stuart, who was a life governor of the B.C. Rifle Association, and who was killed recently in a motor car accident.

CITY NOW FREE OF MENINGITIS

Victoria was free of spinal meningitis today with the release from isolation of the last of twelve people treated since the beginning of the year.

Of the number who contracted the disease, three, two adults and one infant, recovered.

Beer and Wine Vote Unlikely

Premier Pattullo indicated this morning he would inform the Victoria Moderation League this afternoon of the government's reply to the league's request for a plebiscite in Victoria on the question of serving beer and wine in hotel dining-rooms. While the Premier declined to say what would be done until after he had met the league's representatives, it was believed the plebiscite would not be granted. Even should the vote, an amendment to the Liquor Act probably would be necessary. A plebiscite merely within the limits of Victoria would thus have no great effect beyond gauging the extent of opinion on the proposal.

NO ACTION ON HAIRCUT PRICE

Price Remains 35 Cents in Victoria in Spite of Vancouver Increase

Prices of haircuts remain the same in Victoria, as far as could be learned this morning there was no immediate prospect of an increase, in spite of the rise from 35 to 40 cents in the minimum price announced from Vancouver.

J. A. Green, secretary of the local union, said this morning, "We have received no word yet. What action we take will be entirely our own affair, and will not depend on Vancouver."

Laughingly he added: "I wish it would go up."

Vancouver, July 7.—Haircut prices went up in Vancouver yesterday. The Barber Shop Owners' Association announced a minimum price of 40 cents for a haircut in order to comply with the minimum wage act. The previous minimum was 35 cents.

Obituary

NORMA TAIT
Funeral services were held this morning for Mrs. Norma Tait, wife of H. Tait of Port Renfrew, Rev. F. W. Anderson officiating. Interment was in the cemetery on the Songhees Reserve.

IDA CHARLOTTE ABLETT
Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Charlotte Ablett of 1279 Centre Road, who died yesterday in the Royal Jubilee Hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. James Hood will officiate and interment will be in Ross Bay Cemetery.

HARRIET E. HOUSTON
Dean C. S. Quinlan officiated this morning at Christ Church Cathedral at funeral services for the late Mrs. Harriett Elizabeth Houston.

Many flowers were received testifying to the high esteem with which the late Mrs. Houston was held.

The following acted as pallbearers: H. J. Hinton, E. H. Quinlan, R. H. Hinton, W. M. Colman, P. R. Hinton and F. M. Moore. The remains were laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

MARY DINSMORE
Many old-time friends attended the funeral yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Mary Dinsmore, who passed away in Vancouver last Friday, Rev. G. A. Reynolds and Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie conducted the service, during which the hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me" were sung. Interment was made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery with the following as pallbearers: Captain J. C. Foote, J. R. Westcott, A. Galbraith, C. J. Carey, W. Heaney and W. C. Thomson.

The recognition of music as an optional subject in schools came in for much discussion at the third annual meeting of the British Columbia Music Teachers' Federation held for the first time in Victoria yesterday.

The federation decided that preparation for the High School entrance music examination had to be made in the public schools. It was felt that pupils should start in music in Grade Seven.

The Department of Education recently gave its sanction for the teaching of music in schools, a thing for which the British Columbia Music Federation has been working for the last sixteen years.

The delegates agreed that a circular letter should be sent to all parents explaining the whole matter, and talks should be given on the subject to Parent-Teacher Associations.

Election of officers resulted in the following being returned by acclamation: President, Roy Robertson, Vancouver; vice-president, Reginald Cox, Victoria; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Pauline Saunders, Vancouver; Miss Nora Sherwood, Victoria; Miss May James, Vancouver; Burton Kurth, Penticton and East Kootenay yet to be named, will form the executive.

NEXT MEETING HERE
Mr. Cox, who is president of the local branch of the organization, in addition to the delegates to Victoria for the fourth annual convention which is to be held here next year.

At the Japanese Tea Garden where the delegates were entertained following the business meetings, Mr. Robertson, the provincial president, who is also president of the Canadian Music Teachers' Association, spoke on the first annual convention of the Dominion organization which would be held in Vancouver on July 15 to 18. A Victoria was co-host with the terminal city to the delegates from the east he hoped for a good attendance from the capital city.

About thirty attended the picnic at the Japanese Tea Garden and the visiting delegates were taken on a drive around the city by Mr. McCoy Jameson, Miss Dorothy Francis, and Oliver Stout. Luncheon was arranged for them at the Green Lantern by Miss Sherwood.

At the morning session in the Y.W.C.A. reports of the year's activities were read. The financial statement of the federation which was given by Mrs. Saunders showed a marked increase over last year.

Mr. Robertson in his presidential report, said that the work of the federation had spread over a much larger field than ever previously.

Reports of local branches were presented and Miss Sherwood spoke on the Federation News which had originated in Victoria but was now a Canadian-wide paper receiving items from each province and being published in different provinces each year. This year it would be published in British Columbia.

Thanks were extended to the officers of the federation and especially to Mr. Robertson, who had spent much time and hard work on furthering the aims of the body.

GERMAN CONFIDENCE
Professor Soward traced the various steps by which Hitler had built up Germany's confidence in herself and him, each time going just not far enough to provoke the democratic powers to co-operation and powerful action.

There had been the withdrawal of Germany from the world disarmament conference and the League of Nations in October, 1933; the murder of Dolfus and the attempted annexation of Austria in July, 1934; the repudiation of the disarmament section of the Treaty of Versailles in March, 1935, and the remilitarization of the Rhineland in March of this year.

This last event gave Hitler the occasion for a plebiscite in which an overwhelming vote of confidence was given him, and also the opportunity to start building the defences of his western border in line with the new German policy of holding in the west to attack in the east, exactly opposed to that of 1914. Hitler has time and again pointed to the Ukraine and Russia as the aim of German power.

PRESENT THEMES
At the present time the three chief themes of German thought and propaganda were the free city of Danzig, Austria and Germany, Germany felt the three situations must be redressed, whether by force or by voluntary agreement.

"The question is how much further Hitler can go before the democracies become aroused and take concerted action," said Professor Soward.

Speaking of French internal strife and the unprecedented indecision and confusion of British foreign policy, he added: "The tragedy is that so far democracies are handicapped by internal difficulties while dictators suppress opposition by force."

Professor Soward was thanked by J. B. Clearhue.

William Luney, Harold Dizon and Rowan MacKenzie were named delegates to the district convention to be held in Seattle August 9, 10 and 11.

Mr. Soward, Mr. Arthur Dizon, and Mr. Douglas led the club in community singing, with Geo. Heaton at the piano.

FAST WORK TO FINISH MOVIE
Central Films Rushes Production of "Vengeance of the Forest"

Working day and night since Saturday evening, Central Films Limited is rapidly catching up on the schedule for the production of "Vengeance of the Forest" which rain interfered with at Cowichan Lake last week.

"We have picked up a day and a half since we got back," said Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer, this morning.

Since late Saturday the company has been shooting in the Willows studio continuously all day and night through the whole of one night.

In the forty-eight hours ending last night, eighty separate scenes had been taken. This total is almost incredible to movie men. This morning the company was at work on its biggest interior scene, that in a logging town barroom, with seventy-five extras taking part.

"We shall go until we finish the interiors tonight. It may be 11 o'clock, but it will probably be a lot later by the time we get through," said Mr. Bishop this morning.

Tomorrow the company will go on location at Sooke for exteriors, and after that they may return to an up-land lumber camp.

The major work of the picture has got to be completed by Monday.

STAR LEAVES MONDAY
A telegram has just been received with instructions for William Gargan, leading man of "Vengeance of the Forest," to start work with Universal Pictures in Hollywood a week from today.

Arrangements are being made for Mr. Gargan to be taken right from the set to a chartered plane at the conclusion of work next Monday and rushed to Seattle on his way south.

"Vengeance of the Forest" is the fifth and largest picture to be made in Victoria by Central Films. In addition to Mr. Gargan, it stars Molly Lamont; Libby Taylor, colored girl who got her start with Mae West; and David Clyde, brother of Andy Clyde. The picture is being directed by Lewis Collins.

DROP IN GAS IS WELCOMED

Auto Club Pleased With Action of Local Dealers to Cut Gas 1 Cent

Appreciation over the action of local garages and service stations in reducing the cost of gasoline to motorists 1 cent was expressed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the directors of the Victoria Automobile Club. The price of gasoline throughout Victoria today was 29 cents a gallon.

It was felt by directors that this action would encourage motorists to do more driving.

Secretary T. J. Goodlake was instructed to call for tenders for the reconditioning of road signs in Victoria. This is being made possible by a grant from the city for the purpose.

The Victoria Automobile Club will discontinue its efforts to do away with double parking in the downtown area. They have been told by Chief of Police Thomas Hestley that in order to do away with double parking a complete revision of parking conditions would have to be undertaken, and merchants on Douglas Street have expressed opposition to the move.

"SPEED" NOW AT DOMINION

James Stewart, Wendy Barrie and Una Merkel Play Leading Roles

In this mechanical age there is natural interest in anything that has to do with the glamour and mystery of events that occur behind the scenes in the great industries. This interest attains its highest pitch when it concerns the lives of the dare-devil men who test cars and planes before they leave the factories.

All of which probably accounts for the enthusiasm with which an audience at the Dominion Theatre today greeted Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's appropriately titled picture, "Speed." Lucien Hubbard, the producer, with Edwin L. Marin directing, has caught the charged atmosphere of a vast automobile concern at a time when its product is facing a revolutionary change that may either make or break the company. The story, written by Lawrence Bachman and Milton Krims, is unique in its combination of romance and terrific action in a phase of American life that has not been pictured on the screen until now.

The cast presents James Stewart, Wendy Barrie, Una Merkel, Weldon Heyburn, Ted Healy, Ralph Morgan and Patricia Wilder.

"ZIEGFELD" WILL OPEN TOMORROW

William Powell, Myrna Loy and Luise Rainer Have Leading Roles

Hollywood has finally and completely outgrown its pioneer days, in the opinion of William Powell, star with Myrna Loy and Luise Rainer of "The Great Ziegfeld," the road show film that comes tomorrow to the Capitol Theatre.

"The hectic days of silent pictures and the early people of the screen have faded," remarked Powell, "into a more quiet, systematic, and far more cultured period, the third generation, so to speak, that marks the history of any pioneering."

"Pictures went through the same pioneering evolution that marks the development of anything dug out of the ground," he said. "The same evolution that was seen in the California gold rush, the development of oil, or of land."

"First came the pioneers, rough and ready, working with meagre tools, laying the foundations. Then the second generation carried on the work on the foundations laid by the first, and the hectic pioneering settled down into a system. The third generation emerged in actual pioneering as a college-bred generation, and culture and refinement is added to the structure."

"People of the screen today are serious, earnest workers, seeking to advance the talking picture with great literature, great educational value, and enacted by truly great players. The pioneering days have been ended for good, and with them comes the modern day when the talking picture is a great factor for good, for popular education, and the advancement of culture throughout the world."

"The Great Ziegfeld," directed by Robert Z. Leonard and produced by Hunt Stromberg, is the culmination of a year of research, preparation, and shooting at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. In the cast are such celebrities as Fannie Brice, Harriet Hector, Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger and Virginia Bruce.

Famed Danseuse To Appear Here

Nina Thellade was brought from Europe to stage the dance in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will open at the new Oak Bay Theatre on July 15.

Nina Thellade has appeared before practically all the crowned heads of Europe, including King Edward, as well as the Duke and Duchess of York and President Roosevelt.
